"None of us has any excuse nowadays for not being posted on world affairs. More than any other nation, we have a free, responsible press and the record is there for him who will pause and read. However, a free press does little good unless we avail ourselves of its output.

We think it is all right and proper to sweeten up this column occasionally with a bouquet or two. This week the bouquet goes to the Arlington Heights Plan Commission which is making a sincere effort to substitute orderly planning for the chaos that now exists.

As a first step, an ordinance was presented at a special meeting of the Arlington village board last Thursday. It was at first suggested that the board take it under advisement, a practice which leads to a do-nothing policy.

The ordinance was passed. It is being explained in a news story and the door has been locked before the horse is stolen. Future subdividers can now know the rules. There will be fewer "scraps" between municipal government and the developer. That ordinance sets up the rules. If a subdivider does not like them, he can go somewhere else.

We believe that the restrictions are reasonable and that they will be so recognized by builders of the right stature. Those who are only out to "get" the buyer will not like them at all.

William J. Mortimer, superintendent of Cook county highways, in response to a letter from us enclosing a news story regarding the "danger spot" at a dip on Palatine road, has referred that matter to President Erickson and the traffic accident investigator in this area.

Our news story dared the county safety commission to ignore the two head-on collisions, even if there was no fatality.

Our apologies go to all persons who called the editor on the phone the past six months. We have just been rebuked for "discourtesy." A letter received this week ended with, "You're always so busy sounding on the phone that I haven't been able to get many words in edgewise."

We are going to cut our lunch hour down to thirty minutes and herewith assure all "phoners" that they will find the editor a good listener.

We have just discovered a good alibi for the post office department if a special delivery letter is delayed. The stamp on such mail contains a facsimile of a truck that is at least ten years old.

Is the method of handling such mail as old as the truck on the stamp?

We have just found a new use for an air conditioning unit in the editorial sanctum: Irate callers, whose blood pressure is high immediately cool down and forget they intended to nail the editor's hide to the door.

We had that experience this week when Alderman Frank Danielsen of Palatine became fighting mad because he was called a "stubborn Dutchman" in last week's Palatine editor's column. Before he left he admitted he was stubborn and agreed to bury the hatchet if the word "Dane" replaced the "Dutchman." We agreed.

His second grievance was that we had misspelled the word "millennium." When asked how he knew we had spelled the word incorrectly, he admitted he made the discovery when he went to a dictionary to find out what the word meant.

Palatine is joining Arlington Heights and other neighboring towns in sponsoring a "Little League." Its official recognition depends upon the interest displayed by the dads of eight to twelve year old boys. Without their help, it might be a flop.

Need we say more? Of course, some parents are naturally responsibility lazy. They expect the schools, civic minded people and Sunday school teachers to take over the training of their sons. Palatine dads have the opportunity to show that they are not in that class.

We have known George Volz over 50 years, but this is the first time we have known him to clam-up on a story. About all of a story we could get out of him about his trip to Europe was, "yes, I spent a few weeks over there, but what about it?" The little information we were able to worm out of him, appears on page one of section four. Evidentally he is not looking for a political position.

Tennis finalists in the Arlington Heights park district recreation program were named this week with winners to get awards Wednesday, August 12, in the annual Lions Olympics.

Plan Commission Puts Curb On 'Hit n' Miss' Subdivisions

The Arlington Heights village board at a special meeting Thursday, July 30, unanimously adopted and enacted an ordinance embodying an initial chapter of the proposed official plan for the village of Arlington Heights and for the contiguous area within 1½ miles of the village limits. This plan was drafted by the Arlington Heights planning commission, and submitted to the board with the recommendation that the enabling ordinance be enacted.

The new plan which is now in effect is in no sense a complete plan, but it is considered by the planning commission and the board as a necessary and desirable first step in the program of developing a general official plan for the future development of Arlington Heights.

THE NEW ORDINANCE is concerned only with the establishment of certain basic and fundamental standards and requirements for the development of subdivisions and re-subdivisions.

The new plan actually amends the official village plan which was adopted in 1938. The 1938 plan really specified the location of streets and had provisions for the width of streets. Other than than, the plan had no standards or requirements.

With the enactment of this ordinance by the village, a body of reasonable standards has been adopted, not only for the subdivisions within the village, but also for subdivisions in the unincorporated area contiguous to the village limits and within 1½ miles of the village limits.

THE OFFICIAL plan provides in substance:

1. Requirements for the location and continuation of streets.
2. That subdivisions shall provide for a hard top surface of streets.
3. Establishes zoning requirements for the contiguous area and places this area under the jurisdiction of the Arlington Heights zoning board.
4. Provides that subdivisions in the contiguous area shall conform to the minimum standards of the Arlington Heights building code.
5. Establishes a minimum frontage of 66 ft. for residential lots in addition to minimum area.
6. Requires subdivisions to provide and dedicate adequate areas for the present and future development of public parks and public grounds.

The plan commission feels that this initial plan is much needed. Up to the present time, the village has had no official standards or requirements particularly for the development of subdivisions in the contiguous area outside the village limits.

TO SENSIBLY try to plan for an orderly physical growth of the village and the immediate surrounding area, it is essential that the village have the legal authority to establish reasonable requirements. This ordinance does that.

The plan commission feels that so long as the standards required are reasonable, they shall not only be found legally proper but will meet with the approval and cooperation of persons planning to subdivide and develop contiguous areas. It is felt that establishing such reasonable requirements is in the interest of health, safety, comfort and convenience of the inhabitants of the village and of the contiguous territory.

The commission emphasizes to the village board that the new proposal is just a first step but one that is necessary if the village is to exercise the jurisdiction over the contiguous area given to it by the state statute. As experience is gained and as conditions change, the plan should be amended or supplemented so that it will be up to date and workable.

Sherwood Objects To Modern Solar Home; Decision August 10

A group of Sherwood residents appeared before the Arlington Heights village board Tuesday night protesting a proposed home to be built in their area. R. A. Jakubiec, spokesman for the group, told the board the modern design of the home would not fit in architecturally with the existing homes in the subdivision.

Sherwood homes are of conservative or contemporary design and the proposed home would have a flat roof and the back of the house would be facing the street, since it is a solar design. The people who are building a ranch home directly across the street from the site object to having the rear of the house facing their living room windows.

MR. SHUMAN, who proposes to build the home, told the board he was assured by H. R. Jacobsen, who sold him the lot, there would be no objection to the type of home he planned to build. He said he chose Sherwood because it was one area that had all types of homes in it—ranch, two story, Georgian, Colonial, brick and frame—and he thought his home would blend in nicely with the surroundings.

Even though a solar home, Shuman told the board he expected to treat the "back" of the house just like he would if it were the front, and that he had no intention of giving the front a "backyard look."

The architectural committee had approved the plans but the permit was held up when Sherwood residents objected. The board has taken the matter under advisement and will hold a special meeting at 8:30 p.m. Monday, to further discuss the problem with the owner and Sherwood residents.

A five acre tract of land in the Hoelz addition to Arlington Heights, west of Dwyer ave., was approved for resubdividing by the village board. The tract will contain 17 lots.

THE SECOND reading of the ordinance creating the position of village prosecutor was passed. The appointment of an attorney to that position will be made at the next regular board meeting.

William Trude appeared before the board to ask permission to have the village engineer draw up plans and specifications for paving Highland ave., between Maple and Orchard, which he will do at his own expense. He also asked permission to pave Rockwell st., between State and Evergreen, under special assessment. The board will authorize the engineer to proceed with plans in both instances.

The board approved the purchase of the Carl Kerber property located immediately west of the village hall. The taxes, except for 1953, are all paid. The village will pay $4,500 for the property, besides paying the 1953 taxes. The village will remove the old house on the property.

The bid from the Executone Equipment company for a public address and recording system for the council chambers was accepted by the board, the total cost being $1,020. Trustee Charles Rehfeldt passed his vote and Trustee Edward Carlisle was absent.

New Rates October 1 for Out-of-State Subscribers

Increased rates on second class postage are bringing a long-needed change in mail subscription rates to out-of-state subscribers of Paddock Publications. Special servicemen's rate of $3.25 per year anywhere in the world is still in effect, however.

Mail subscription rates in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin will still be $4.00 per year.

Effective October 1, 1953, mail subscription rates for zones 3, 4 and 5 in states other than Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin will be $4.50 per year.

Effective October 1, 1953, mail subscription rates for zones 6, 7 and 8 will be $5.00 per year.

Police Aid Elderly Lady; Man Injured When Auto Hits Pole

Arlington Heights police were kept busy the past week handling many routine calls dealing with lost dogs, stolen bikes, prowlers, burning garbage, and a few accidents.

They also assisted an elderly lady, Mrs. Clara Tagney of Antioch, who became lost in Arlington Heights. She was found wandering in front of the Standard service station. When police picked her up she couldn't tell them how she got there and it was sometime before they could locate her son in Chicago, who came out to pick her up.

Harry T. Laster, 949 Mapleton, Oak Park, was injured when his auto hit a public service pole on Northwest hwy., at Chestnut, last Friday. Laster, headed east on the highway said he was blinded by lights of an oncoming car. He suffered chest injuries, cut on the left hand, knee injuries and two broken ribs. First aid was given by Dr. Robert Muench and he was later removed to Oak Park hospital.

The firemen answered a fire call at 404 N. Douglas ave., last Friday, where they extinguished a roast which had caught fire in an oven.

High Enrollment, New Buildings Increase Budgets Of Schools

Increased budgets for the operation the coming year of Arlington Heights high school and elementary school district 25 have been made necessary by increased enrollments and two new elementary school buildings.

The increase in the high school budget does not mean a higher high school tax rate. "It should be less," says Supt. Knoeppel, "because of an increased assessed valuation of about five million dollars."

School administrators do not grab budget figures out of the sky. They must be substantiated by the financial needs of the school. A lot of time and thought is spent on school budgets. They must not only pass the scrutiny of local tax payers, but of tax attorneys for corporations, which pay a considerable amount of the taxes. Districts 25 and 214 present their budgets at a meeting Monday of the Tri-County school board and railroad attorneys.

The major part of an increase of $66,000 in the high school educational budget to $601,000 is occasioned by an increase in enrollment of 100 to 1300, which in turn requires six additional teachers, one extra custodian, an extra secretary and an extra cafeteria cook.

The major item of the high school budget is $342,030 for salaries of 69 teachers; $40,000 for bus service, which will transport 850 students in place of 750 last year.

Taxpayers will be asked to pay about 80% of the budget. The cafeteria is self supporting. Other receipt items include:

State payment to transportation	$15,000
Sale or rental of instruction equipment	4,500
Tuition	5,500
School lunch services	39,500
Athletic receipts	4,000
Vocational education	15,000
Tuition from other districts	1,300
Distributive funds	7,200
Special education	7,500

The building budget has dropped from $250,000 last year to $240,000 the coming year. That amount includes the payment of $100,000 for bonds and interest.

The public hearing on the budget will be held Monday evening at the high school to which any taxpayer is welcome.

An expected increased enrollment in Arlington Heights elementary schools of nearly 400 explains the increase of $60,000 in the educational budget. The construction and opening of two new schools explains the increase of about $16,000 for operation expenses and $36,000 for bonds and interest.

Total bond payments last year were $92,000. The new figure is $129,000.

The increase in manpower occasioned by higher enrollment includes 15 teachers, a principal, two custodians, two half-time office employees. The tabulated figures for this year are:

Educational fund	$504,199.00
Building fund	36,115.00
Bonds and Interest	128,700.63
Total budget	669,014.63

About two-thirds of the budget will be covered by taxes which are estimated to be $327,000. Expected receipts from other sources include state aid $100,000; state aid to transportation $17,000; and federal lunch aid $6,000.

An additional expected receipt is $13,000 from school district 56, covering federal and state aid for last year's tuition of the children residing in the Arlington airport. District 25 will not handle these children this year.

A public hearing on the budget will be held at the South school Tuesday evening. Any interested school patron has the privilege to attend.

Electricity, Gasoline Mix to Cause Fire

Sparks from an electric motor ignited gasoline which spilled on the garage floor at the Carl Stehman home, 201 Elm st., Prospect Heights, July 30.

Carl Jr., 15, was using the fuel to clean parts of his bicycle and his younger brother, Douglas, started the motor. Flames went as high as the ceiling but Carl removed the container, which held the gasoline, to the outside. The Prospect Heights fire department was called, but before they arrived the Stehmans were able to put out the fire with water from a hose. The firemen remained to check the premises to see that all danger was past.

Robert Sophie, Club Manager, Dies In Fall

Robert H. Sophie, 29, manager of the Mount Prospect country club, died Monday night at Columbus hospital as a result of a broken neck received when he fell from a 12 foot wall while attending a garden party at 345 Fullerton pkwy. in Chicago.

Edward Klupmeyer of 509 We-Go Trail, Mount Prospect, told police he and his wife had accompanied the Sophies to the party, which was at the Henry Paschen home. Klupmeyer told Detective Francis Eckert there were about a dozen guests in the garden, including Mrs. Sophie, when Sophie climbed the wall, apparently as a prank. When he reached the top the grating gave way and he fell backward, striking the back of his neck against a board guard around shrubbery.

SOPHIE WAS employed by his father, who purchased the country club from Harold Willson several years ago. He was an active member of the Mount Prospect Lions club and Chamber of Commerce and just recently became a rookie fireman on the volunteer fire department.

The Sophies, who have two sons, Robert, 2, and Scott, 1 lived in an apartment at the club until a month ago, when they moved into their new ranch home at 810 Hi Lusi ave., Mount Prospect.

Funeral services will be held Friday, at 10 a.m., at St. Raymond Catholic church.

Start Suit to Enforce Deed Restrictions in Stonegate Area

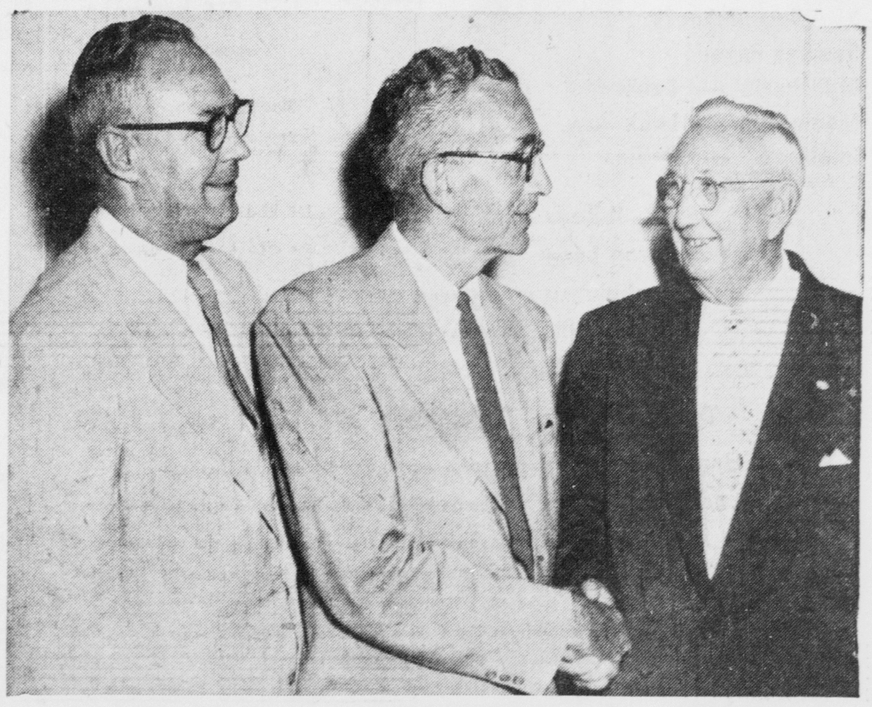

Suit was filed in the Superior court last week by eight Stonegate residents to enforce deed restrictions which limits homes in that area to the two-story single family dwellings.

The action was directed against the National Bank of Austin as trustee and E. L. Trendel, who has been granted three building permits for the so-called tri-level homes.

The suit is based on original deed restrictions creating a covenant running with the land. Attorneys are Kaiser, Dodge, Dornbaugh & Sullivan and Church, Goof & Bobinette. Two of the complainants are members of the law firms entrusted with the suit.

The bill of particulars is signed by Chas. and Lydia Bobinette Chas. and Ada Fealis, L. W. and Helen Bredehoft and George and Clare Sullivan.

Trendel is also interested in erecting similar houses in Scarsdale, but investigation shows that it is not protected by as strong a deed restriction as Stonegate.

O. E. Fry (center), division vice president of the Public Service Company, congratulates Martin H. Schreiber who retired from active service with the utility Saturday. Schrieber's successor as Barrington district superintendent, C. F. Jones (left), looks on.

Schreiber was the honored guest at a luncheon recently attended by company officials where highlights of his four-decade career with the utility were reviewed. He celebrated his 40th anniversary with the company in June.

Jones, a native of Waukegan, attended the University of Wisconsin before starting his career with the Public Service Company in his home town in 1926, and, until 1945, served in various capacities in the inspection, engineering, meter, customers' service and industrial relations departments in Waukegan and at the company's northern division headquarters in Northbrook.

In December, 1945, he was appointed assistant district superintendent in Crystal Lake and became district superintendent in Highland Park two years ago.

Lions to Furnish Buses for Old Folks' Lincoln Park Outing

Residents of the Old Folks Home, Arlington Heights, will enjoy an all day outing at Lincoln Park, August 19, at the expense of the Arlington Lions club who will furnish as many buses as necessary.

The story of Alcoholics Anonymous was told the Lions at their bi-monthly dinner meeting Tuesday evening. A representative of the "AA" revealed the methods and principles by which the organization has helped to rehabilitate those consumed by the disease of alcholics. Some 6,000 members meet regularly in the Chicago area and give mutual strength and courage to combat the disease.

International in scope, the AA receives from 800 to 1,000 new members throughout the world. Members of the Chicago groups contain presidents of banks, ministers, editors, leading socialites, on down to those who rose from Skid Row, said the speaker, but there is no class consciousness or religious discrimination.

Consumer Spending

Spending by consumers is holding close to the high level reached earlier in the year. Consumer demand for farm products is steady—little change in prices received and prices paid by farmers generally in recent weeks. Industrial production has recovered from ground lost as a result of work stoppage in steel.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Boys and girls of Arlington Heights are now in practice for the annual Lions Olympics to be held at Recreation park next Wednesday. This is the third annual event sponsored by the club as the highlight of the summer park program.

Boys are competing in elimination tournaments in horse shoes and free throws, while girls as well as boys are trying out for the finals in shuffleboard. Youngsters are practicing for other events—40 yard dash, baseball throw, base running and broad jump.

In order to make the competition fair, events will be run off in three classes: Midgets, fourth grade and under; Intermediates, fifth and sixth grades, and Juniors, seventh and eighth grades.

In the swimming finals alone more than 130 medals are being offered. Swimmers have had to qualify for the finals in preliminaries held this week under the direction of Art Holland. There will be races for boys and girls up to 17 and an additional class in backstroke and free style for boys 17 and above.

Of course, it will no doubt add to the boys' and girls' pleasure and excitement during the contests if a good number of their parents and other adults turn out to watch them perform in the Lions Olympics.

'Great Train Wreck'

Fun for the kids, but certainly no picnic for the commuters, was last week's train wreck just southeast of Mount Prospect. The 14 cars which piled up were mostly empties, so, as last week's Herald reported, it was a "cheap" big wreck.

The wreck attracted crowds of observers, the most interested of whom were the children. Commuters were transported by bus to Des Plaines where other trains awaited them.

So interested are some of the small fry that they are still consulting the photograph in last week's paper, and even threaten to post it on their bedroom walls.

Advance Notice

Those who have been to previous North Cook 4-H fairs at Arlington Park race track needn't be reminded that this event comes up August 14-16 this year No doubt they have already made plans to attend.

For "first-timers," let us report that the show is well worth seeing — animals entered in the competition are on display as are the latest model tractors and other farm equipment. Girls' exhibits are on view and local merchants have booths as well.

Entertainment is on the nightly schedule and will include the crowning of the king and queen of the festivities.

Children especially get a lot of enjoyment out of a visit to the 4-H fair, which is free, of course.

Refuse to Dismiss Suit To Stop Transfer of Land from Northfield

Judge Clarence A. Tillema of Clay county sitting in county court denied a motion by the village of Northfield to dismiss a suit which seeks to transfer 26 acres of land from the village to unincorporated status.

The suit to disconnect the 26 acres from the village was brought by three property owners. The land which is sought to be disconnected runs in a narrow strip from Waukegan to Sunset Ridge rds. half way between Winnetka ave. and Willow rd. The same was annexed to the village of Northfield last September.

New adult fiction: "Vermillion Gate," by Lin Yutang. The author once again returns to the field of the literary novel. Although the story is told in the manner of the famous story tellers of the Orient, it is a piece of modern fiction. Much of the action centers around the beautiful Lake Sunganor, set like a gem in the mountains of Kansu.

"Taw Jameson," by May Davies Martenet. The story of Taw Jameson's loving and patient attempt to guard Chloe Heyward against her well meaning, but ruthless and over powering mother is a good story from beginning to end. In addition, it is told in rich, poetic language.

"The Laughing Stranger," by Vina Delmar. Against the background of a New Jersey coast resort in the days immediately following the civil war, Vina Delmar tells the haunting story of a star-crossed family and the heartless rebel beauty who suddenly appeared in the midst to change the course of all their lives.

"Mink on Weekdays," by Felicia Lamport. Here is the story of Felicia and her sister, who were born to mink collars, and who learned to be ladies in Central Park. Their's is a truly humorous experience.

"The Hidden Face," by Marie Baumer. In "The Hidden Face," Marie Baumer deals with an unusual situation in which an extraordinary and rather pitiful deception is practiced on a closely knit circle of five friends.

"Landscape of the Heart," by Lettie Rogers. This is the story of life on the other side of sanity; of how Judith found there the love she had fled from and found also an analyst who could lead her—step by painful step—back to a normal life.

"The House of Moreys," by Phyllis Bentley. Eleanor Morey's story of her strange family is full of weird secrets, murders, cheating and forced marriages. All of these were shadows over the house of Moreys.

"THE EAGLE and the Wind," by Herbert E. Stover. Here is another novel of the American Revolution. It was a cruel turn of fate that bonded Jeffry Claus to the master of the Ribner Trading Post. Only fair-haired Susan gave Jeffry the courage to pursue his guest and to discover the secret which determined his fate.

"The Mountain," by Henri Troyat. An airplane flying from Calcutta to London, has crashed on the summit of a certain Swiss Alp. In the village below, two brothers set out to attempt the incredibly difficult climb to reach it, but for very different motives.

"A Bargain with God," by Thomas Savage. This is the story of Bowdoin street on Boston's famed Beacon Hill. In particular it is the story of four people whose paths cross and meet at the point of the V that is the inevitable component of LiVe and loVe.

"Beyond This Place," by A. J. Cronin. Dr. Cronin turns to a son and his father, to a crime of passion and a crime of injustice; to a bond of loyalty that reached across fifteen years toward a man, broken and forgotten within prison walls.

NON-FICTION: "Horn of the Hunter," by Robert C. Ruark. With Robert Ruark, we are invited to go on an African Safari. The reader may know of the self-imposed discipline of mile after mile on man-killing treks, and the ferocity of the wounded buffalo, and the acid sweat of fear.

"Grant and his Generals," by Clarence Edward Macartney. This book offers a fascinating portrait of General Grant in his relationship to the thirteen chief officers who served under him. There is an additional chapter on "Grant and his Commander in Chief," Lincoln.

"Hornung's Handbook of Designs and Devices."

"Aircraft Year Book, 1952." The standard reference of the U. S. Aviation.

MYSTERIES: "The Pennycross Murders," by Maurice Procter.

"Beggar's Choice," by H. C. Branson.

Offer Diversified Occupations Course At Arlington High

When the Arlington Heights high school bell tolls this September calling back students to the class-rooms, many of them will be enrolled in a new course added last spring by the school administrators. This course, called Diversified Occupations, is one in which students attend school for one-half day and the other half day receive training in the occupation of their choice and interest at a training station in the school community.

Two of the periods in school will be spent in taking the usual high school subjects; the other period will be spent in Diversified Occupations class studying the technical, related information necessary for the training they are receiving on the job.

It is the purpose of this program to give boys and girls while in high school an opportunity to receive training in occupations of their choice under the guidance of the school and the cooperation of business people who are interested in training young people. Such a program will enable students to receive training in many occupations which is not otherwise possible in the usual classroom.

TO COME under the program the occupation the student chooses must require at least 2000 hours of training time, and there must be a desirable training station in the community where he can receive the training necessary for the occupation. A representative list of such occupations is: auto mechanic; auto body and fender repair; lumber yard worker; tool and die maker; welder; printer; shoe repairman; floriculture; radio and television repair; draftsman; cleaning, spotting and pressing; art metal craft; photography; etc. At the present time there are over eighty occupations in which students are in training in Illinois.

The work in the school and on the job will be coordinated by a Diversified Occupations Coordinator who is on the job at present setting up the program with the aid of school administrators. Students enrolled will be fitted to training stations by the middle of August so that the program will start the first day of school.

Employers, parents and students who desire additional information may contact A. D. Reeves at the high school.

Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

A Palatine lady has achieved the reputation that most of us housewives aspire to—that of being an excellent cook.

Mrs. R. H. Mosser of 129 N. Cedar, Palatine, has a wealth of good recipies, two of which she is sharing with us today.

The elegant flavor of one of the recipies measures up to its elegant name: Ambassador Black Bottom Pie. This delicious pie has a graham cracker crust, a bottom layer of chocolate custard, a top layer of fluffy custard, and is topped by whipped cream and shredded chocolate.

It is a light dessert which makes it perfect to serve with dinner or for a dessert luncheon.

The second recipe is for an old-fashioned ginger cookie. This ice box cookie recipe has been is Mrs. Mosser's possession for many years. These tasty, crispy ginger snaps are simple as well as economical to make, and will especially appeal to children and menfolks!

This good cook is also a civic-minded woman, and belongs to several organizations in Palatine. She is a member of the WSCS of the Methodist church, the American Legion Auxiliary and the Palatine Woman's club.

Ambassador Black Bottom Pie

Crust:
14 graham crackers
5 tablespoons melted butter

Roll the crackers fine, add melted butter and mix well. Pat out evenly in a deep pan. Bake 10 minutes in 300 degree oven.

Filling:
1 tablespoon gelatin
2 cups top milk
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
4 tablespoons cold water
½ cup sugar
4 egg yolks

Soak gelatin in cold water. Scald milk in double boiler. Combine sugar and cornstarch.

Beat egg yolks and slowly add to scalded milk. Stir in sugar and cornstarch. Cook in a simmering double boiler for about 15 minutes or until custard generously coats the spoon.

Remove from fire and take out one cup custard. To this one cup custard add 1½ squares melted chocolate and beat well. Then add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into pie shell.

Meringue:
4 egg whites
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Make a stiff meringue by beating egg whites. Add cream of tartar and gradually beat in sugar. Beat until very stiff.

While remaining custard mixture is still smooth and soft, fold in the meringue and vanilla.

As soon as the chocolate custard has begun to set, cover it with the fluff custard and chill until set.

This pie may be topped with sweetened whipped cream and sprinkled with shredded chocolate.

Ginger Ice Box Cookies
1 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
½ cup molasses
2 level teaspoons soda
2 level teaspoons ginger

Collector Arnold Scharringhausen of Elk Grove has opened his office in the Mount Prospect State Bank and collector T. C. Hart of Palatine has opened his office in the state bank building, Palatine.

Collector William Annen of Wheeling township will start his collections on Thursday, August 13, at the Arlington Heights National Bank.

Roselle Builds Well For The Future

Here's the new Roselle Public school building, a masterpiece of modern architecture and one of the most interesting school buildings in the entire area. It has just been completed at a cost of $160,000. This is a rear view showing the unusual glass or window space which is characteristic of front and back. The modern gym seen at the rear has an entire east wall of glass. In the future, should the need arise, plans call for completion of another wing to carry out the pleasing architectural theme. In addition, the school has an immense and excellent playground space. This fall enrollment is expected to reach 150. The old school building will still be used for upper classes. Thomas Mayhew is the principal.

Distributive Education Open to Juniors at Arlington High School

The Distributive Education Program at Arlington Heights high school, which is designed to provide vocational training in a sales or service position, is now available to juniors as well as seniors. Prior to this year the program was open only to seniors.

The program is changed slightly in that it is to be (1) a two year program instead of a one year program, and (2) a one period class instead of a two period class. The students enrolled in program will take two subjects along with the class in "Distributive Education" at the high school during the morning session. During the afternoon the student will work in a wholesale, retail, or service establishment for which he will receive one unit of credit as well as a learners wage while in training. On graduating the student receives the regular high school diploma. This is the fourth year for the successful operation of the Distributive Education program.

Distributive Education students are under the supervision of both the teacher and the employer. The program provides an excellent opportunity for juniors in both the non-college and the college preparatory curriculum to receive an on-the-job business education in preparation for a future occupation.

Juniors interested in enrolling in the "Distributive Education" program or desiring further information should see H. L. Slichenmyer at the high school office.

Wilson School Head Attends Audio-Visual Convention in Chicago

Robert G. Parsons of Arlington Heights was in Chicago attending the Seventh Annual National Audio-Visual Convention, in session at the Hotel Sherman, July 31 through August 5.

Parsons, who is principal of the Wilson school, plans to bring home practical information on trends and highlights in the visual education field as well as the latest and best in audio-visual equipment, materials, and supplies.

The term "audio-visual" has during the last few decades come to include all "see and hear" mediums—sound and silent movies, filmstrips, slides, tape recordings, and the various equipment which goes with these mediums—projectors, recorders, and screens. The National Audio-Visual Convention and Trade Show, which deals mainly with audio-visual equipment, materials, and techniques for schools, churches and industry, was held for the first time in 1946; this year the eighth annual convention and trade show is sponsored by four organizations; The National Audio-Visual Association, the Industrial Audio-Visual Association, the Educational Film Library Association, the Catholic Audio-Visual Educators.

More than 2,000 educators, dealers, and others active in the audio-visual field are expected to attend the convention and trade show, featuring over 145 exhibits of the newest modern teaching materials. Special sessions will be held to discuss problems affecting the entire audio-visual indsutry.

Rev. Charles Rawson, Mount Prospect Pastor, Dies Suddenly Saturday

Rev. Charles Albert Rawson, 53, pastor of the Community Presbyterian church, Mount Prospect, died suddenly August 1 at Elgin hospital, a victim of coronary thrombosis.

Rev. Rawson accepted the pastorate of the new Community Presbyterian church in Mount Prospect in 1952 at which time he was also serving as vice moderator of the Chicago Presbytery. For 12 years previous to this he had been pastor of the Brookline Presbyterian church in Chicago.

During his pastorate at the Mount Prospect church, the congregation more than doubled in number.

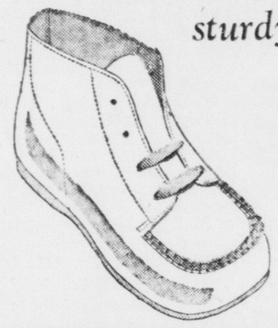

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin and McCormick Theological Seminary, he married Anna Aase June 18, 1928. Before coming to Chicago he had held several pastorates in Wisconsin.

Funeral services were held August 4 at the Brookline Presbyterian church, Chicago, at 1:30 p.m. Dr. Paul Johnson officiated.

Rev. Rawson leaves his wife, Anna; three sisters, Katherine Kellogg of Portage, Wis., Hazel Collins of Denver, Colo., and Ruth Dougherty of Chicago, and a brother, John Rawson of Montrose, Colo.

Wisdom in human action begins with what is nearest right under the circumstances, and thence achieves the absolute.

Illinois TAX FACTS

by George L. Mahin, Executive Secretary Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

Although the Christmas tree bills to subsidize private organizations were well disguised at the recent session of the Illinois General Assembly, nevertheless the taxpayers are again going to play Santa Claus unless Governor Stratton penetrates the disguises and vetoes them.

H.B. 370 passed by the General Assembly creates the Spanish-American war veterans' commission with an appropriation of $10,000 for the purpose of providing the department of Illinois of the united Spanish war veterans with headquarters, telephone, postage and other supplies and services. This is the same bill as H.B. 1027 passed at the 1951 session and vetoed by then Governor Stevenson.

Even better disguised is an appropriation made by H.B. 640 of $25,000 to the department of public welfare for expenses of instruction and maintenance of certain wards of the state while in attendance at the American boys camp. At the 1952 sessions, S.B. 631, making a direct appropriation of $25,000 to the American boys camp, was vetoed as an appropriation to a private organization, for the same reasons. There can be no question that, while the appearance of the appropriation this time is different, the result would be the same.

At the 1951 session there were a number of bills passed, all vetoed, making appropriations to various veterans' organizations—American Legion Auxiliary for Illini Girls State, Amvets, VFW, Marine Corps League, and many others. This time there were none of these. However, S.B. 638 contains an appropriation to the Illinois veterans commission of $45,000 for "service work in cooperation with veterans' organizations."

In H.B. 597, buried in the appropriation to the department of agriculture, is an item of $17,000 for the horticultural society.

The appropriation to the department of aeronautics by S.B. 338, already approved, was amended by the house to include $20,000 for the civil air patrol, Illinois wing, an organization of civilian flyers.

Seed Selection Means More Pop to Popcorn

University of Illinois horticulturists have improved the popping quality of popcorn almost 75% by careful seed selection since 1939. Popping quality is determined by increase in volume when the corn is popped.

B. L. Weaver, who has been in charge of the work, reports that average popping volume was 22 in 1939. Last year it was 38.

In 1939 only five ears increased as much as 30 times, and last year only three ears scored less than 30.

Last year two ears popped at 44 times the unpopped volume. Twenty years ago, Weaver says, a variety of popcorn was considered good if it increased its volume 20 times when popped.

All corn tested was Illinois Hulless. The difference results from saving seed from the best ears each year.

Weaver says they have noticed no other change in the corn caused by saving ears according to popping quality.

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

"Move over, Mr. B. Goodman." Make way for the horror of the century. Recently, I took up the clarinet. That is, the clarinet was in its case, and I picked it up off the floor, put it together, and we should go no farther than that.

My daughter has had it for almost a year, but I had restrained myself. My wife had taken up the piano with some seriousness, but I hadn't made any more effort to play with more than two fingers than I had made at any time in the past ten years.

NOW MY SON has brought home a saxophone, and is beginning to bring a different note to our house. But what really drove me to the clarinet, is that our younger daughter broke my kazoo.

Once upon a time, I was a student assistant in the psychology department, testing was my field. All the music students had to take the Seashore Test of Musical Aptitude. I gave them the tests, I supervised their grading, I interpreted the results for the music department.

Then I took the Seashore Test of Musical Aptitude. In each of six parts there are 50 distinctions to be made. The assumption is that scoring starts at 25 (because anybody might guess half of them). On three of the six parts, my score was less than 25; on the other three it was not much higher. I was the lowest score we recorded. True, practically all the rest were music students and should have been higher than I.

I KNEW THE worst. Never would anyone walk up to me while I sang in the shower, and say, "Young man, you are just what we are looking for to sing the male lead in the operetta."

So now I turned to my daughter's clarinet. Because whether you know anything about music or not, there is a sensitivity in each person which responds to music. Even an elephant may dance in a circus. It looked as though a little engineering aptitude might help one to remember the various positions which make the various notes. I'll never swing out with a hot lick of my own, but one of these days I might get past "Mon Ami Pierrot."

Besides, the Wille Avenue Hepcats (which is one of the non-profane names of the Parent Teacher association men's chamber music ensemble) has made a couple of public appearances now, and some of us should really get past the kazoo stage. That was all right when we were neophytes, but now we have a following—everyone of them with a baseball bat in his hands and chasing us just as hard as we can run.

Doggy Star Dies

"Major," canine movie idol of millions who saw him in the "Our Gang" movie comedy series, died recently in Berkeley, Calif., at the ripe old age of 25. On the basis of "seven years of a dog's life to one of a human's" this would have made him 175 years old. As any doctor could have told him, if "Major" had asked, you have to watch your diet as you get older. "Major" ended his long and lively life by gorging himself on 22 pounds of horsemeat.

Simplify Care Of Lawn With These Methods

Many home owners who work diligently, hour upon hour, taking care of their beautiful lawns wonder whether it's worth the effort.

What they should be wondering, instead, is whether there is some way to do the job more easily. Chances are they will find there are short cuts they can take to simplify their tasks.

For instance, many lawn manicures can be made easier by eliminating hand clipping of grass around shrubbery, trees, and flower beds. By spading small, symmetrical borders of black dirt around such areas, all the grass can be cut with the mower and the crawling and clipping around tree trunks, flowers, and bushes stopped.

HEADACHES for the person trying to maintain an attractive lawn, too, are the many common weeds—dandelions, crabgrass, ragweed, quackgrass, Bermuda grass—which find their way into the yard. Digging these weeds out individually takes time—and plenty of it. So why not eliminate that job, too?

By spraying dandelions, for instance, with a 2-4D solution, these weeds soon will wilt away. The chemical can be mixed easily, following the manufacturer's directions, in a galvanized steel sprinkling can.

GALVANIZED steel sprinkling cans are recommended because of the advisability of spraying the chemicals carefully. Many of them can damage flowers and shrubs, but with a sprinkling can it is easy to confine the liquid spray to a safe area. And the galvanizing will not be affected by the chemical. Just rinse out the can after the spraying and use it for other lawn and garden purposes, too.

Crabgrass, another menace to those trying to maintain a beautiful lawn, can be controlled by spraying it with a solution of potassium cyanate and water.

A GOOD LAWN is dependent, too, upon keeping the soil in excellent condition. Many chemical soil conditioners, designed for addition to poor soils to make them porous, may be used in liquid form and applied from a galvanized steel sprinkling can.

And these conditioners, whether utilized in liquid or dry form, actually are time-savers, too, for they are applied easily and eliminate the necessity of digging up a poor lawn to add peat moss and humus.

There are other tips which can save time in caring for the lawn, too. Try using a grass-catcher on the lawn mower to eliminate the need for raking after cutting. Mow the grass regularly each week, while it is comparatively short, and the cutting requires less effort. And if you have small areas which are hard to cut, such as between two strips of driveway, the yard appearance might be improved and work reduced by putting in a solid section of concrete in the same space.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The purpose of Christianity is to spiritualize thought and action, to free mankind from the bondage of materialism and hasten the day of universal love and harmony. This will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 9. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be SPIRIT.

The Golden Text is from I Corinthians (2: 12) "Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God."

Lesson-Sermon passages from the Bible (King James Version) include:

"There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; One Lord, one faith, one baptism, One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all" (Eph. 4: 4-6).

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Spirit being God, there is but one Spirit, for there can be but one infinite and therefore one God . . . In Spirit there is no matter, even as in Truth there is no error, and in good no evil. It is a false supposition, the notion that there is real substance-matter, the opposite of Spirit. Spirit, God, is infinite, all. Spirit can have no opposite" (pp. 334,278).

All-Purpose Spray Best For Garden

What kind of spray or dust should I get for the vegetable garden?

M. B. Linn, plant disease specialist at the University of Illinois, suggests an all-purpose spray—one that will control both insects and plant diseases.

Pick a chemical, he says that will control most of the vegetable diseases and insects, and one that is safe for you and for the crops.

Linn warns against chemical labeled just "Garden Dust." This chemical may contain only DDT, which will work against insects but will leave plant diseases untouched.

AN ALL-PURPOSE garden dust should contain five or six per cent of a good fungicide chemical. That means five percent of actual active ingredients. Some dusts with two or three percent of actual fungicide cost less but certainly aren't as effective.

Linn says a new family of chemicals called carbamates are probably the best for disease control. These chemicals have such common names as zineb, ziram and ferbam. Zineb is the most effective he feels. It is fairly good against common blight and leaf spot diseases. It's also safe on vegetable crops. Ziram is not effective against late blight. Ferbam is used more on fruits than on vegetables.

High School to Offer Instruction in Piano and Organ

With the installation of a new Baldwin electric organ at the Arlington Heights high school this week, plans were being completed to offer instruction in organ to students who have attained proficiency on the piano.

The enrollment of the music department at the Arlington Heights high school has increased extensively the past few years as have curricular offerings of this department. Three full-time teachers are employed by the board of education to take care of the rapidly expanding music department. Class piano will be offered this year for the first time to those students who have had no piano instruction while organ lessons will be given to those who have accomplished a certain degree of proficiency on the piano.

The new organ is portable, thus, may be used in either the old or the new gymnasium-auditoriums as well as in individual class rooms. It has power to the extent that it can be used for such activities as basketball games, large group meetings, concerts, choir accompaniment, as well as class room instruction. E. F. Laurin, president of the board, stated it was the hope of the board that such an organ could be installed in the school, and since the original planning of the gymnasium addition the organ has been a piece of equipment that everyone was hoping for.

Outdoor Show To Feature Patio Gardens

Walled and patio-type gardens in the heart of Chicago will be opened to the public August 16 from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. in one of the most unusual and unique Outdoor Institutes ever sponsored by the Woman's board of the Chicago Horticultural society.

In the triangle formed by North ave., Clark st. and Ogden ave., virtually in the shadow of the Chicago Historical society, lies one of the most representative areas of Old Chicago.

Added to the earlier residents, who still sit on their high-stepped porches and live behind a facade of cupids in bas-relief, carved cornices and windows shaded by jalousies, is a large cultural and intellectual group who are intrigued by and love the charm of "old town."

While the pocket-handkerchief patio gardens of today are a far cry from the truck gardens, wide lawns and pleasant orchards of the early 1800's, it is encouraging to horticulturists to find that these cosmopolites have as great a need for growing things as any Midwest farmer.

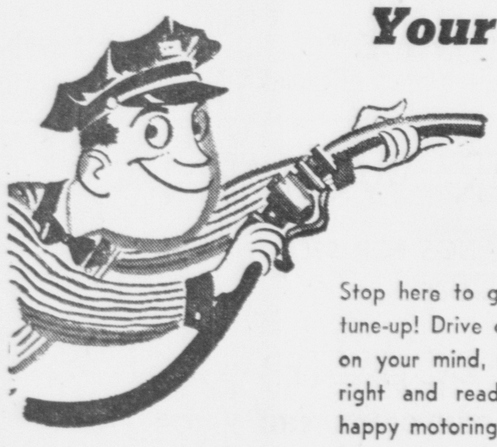

As in all Outdoor Garden Institutes, experts will be on hand to answer questions. Beginning at 12:30 in Crilly Court, immediately adjoining the triangle, and at intervals thereafter, Cushing Smith, Karl Klopp of Arlington Heights, Catherine Cole Church and Mrs. Harry Barnum, all landscape artists of note, will discuss design and planting of the small functional garden. Dr. Joseph Howland, garden editor of House Beautiful, is particularly interested in these walled gardens and hopes to fly in from New York for the occasion.

The gardens are accessible by street car, bus, or automobile. The public is invited to take advantage of this opportunity to visit these most unusual gardens. Admission is free to members of the Chicago Horticultural society, fifty cents to non-members, and no charge for children. Directional arrows in the immediate vicinity will facilitate traffic. (B4

600,000 4-H'ers Say "Let's Help Correct Safety Hazards"

Chicago—(Special)—The largest volunteer army ever organized for a peaceful mission is now "invading" farms and rural communities throughout the Nation. It consists of more than 600,000 4-H Club boys and girls whose objective is to show rural folk how to prevent accidents and fires which result in 14,000 deaths and 1¼ million injuries among farm people, as well as destruction of millions of dollars' worth of buildings and equipment annually.

Falls account for 36 percent of all fatal accidents in farm homes and 19 percent outside. More than 50 percent of all fatal accidents in working with farm machinery involve tractors, and overturning accounts for more than half of the tractor accident fatalities.

Safety experts give considerable credit to the contributions made by 4-H'ers for the reduction of one-fifth in the number of fatal accidents to farm people in 1951—the last year for which estimates are available—from the estimated annual rate in 1941, the first year of the National Farm Safety Week, which will be observed this year July 19-25.

Illustrative of the 4-H'ers do "approach" to the accident problem, a Tennessee club girl reported that she picked up broken glass, rusty nails protruding from boards, and other sharp articles in the farm lot; helped her father and brother become safety conscious in working with farm machinery; had a ladder with two broken rungs repaired; persuaded her mother to use a stepladder in reaching high places in the house, and to always wipe up grease or water immediately if it is spilled on the floor.

A Texas 4-H boy reports that their farm tractor often was filled with gasoline to overflowing when the engine was warm. He called this unsafe practice to the attention of his father and brother and now the tractor is filled correctly. His small brothers frequently asked to ride on the tractor, but this safety enthusiast taught them to understand how hazardous it was to hitchhike a ride on a tractor.

Similar reports of the 4-H'ers participating in the National 4-H Safety program are legion. Instead of using "don't" admonitions, expressions such as "Let's Correct This Hazard" prevail.

Outstanding 4-H records of achievement in safety are rewarded with awards provided by General Motors for the ninth consecutive year. They include sterling silver medals for the blue award group in each qualifying county, and an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November for the state winner. Six state winners will be chosen to receive a national award, which is a $300 college scholarship. A handsome plaque, appropriately embossed, will be awarded to the county reporting the most outstanding county-wide 4-H safety program.

The National 4-H Safety program is conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

How About Planning A Picnic, Gals? It's Easy Way To Get Out Of Kitchen, Gives Family Change, Too

The summer months arrive and with them the days when the lady of the house hates to go into the hot kitchen to cook another meal. Why not take the easy way out, gals, and give the family a change, too, by planning a picnic outdoors where everyone can enjoy whatever cooling breezes may blow along?

You and your family, and a group of friends, too, can get together in the backyard or drive to the park or woods—you'll find picnic dining is relaxing and fun.

THE MENU need not be complicated; in fact, the simpler the better, because it will mean less work in the kitchen.

One picnic menu suggestion includes canned baked beans, tossed salad, buns, hamburgers or hot dogs cooked over the outdoor grill, chilled watermelon, and cold drinks.

If you'd prefer not to do any outdoor grilling, simply put wieners in the pot of baked beans to cook. Then, if you wish, you can augment the picnic luncheon with some small sandwiches of brown bread and cream cheese. Use canned brown bread and it will mean no extra baking.

THE BEANS should be heated until they are bubbling hot and the salad should be tossed at the last minute to assure crispness. Don't forget to take along salt and pepper, eating utensils, and a big knife to cut the melon.

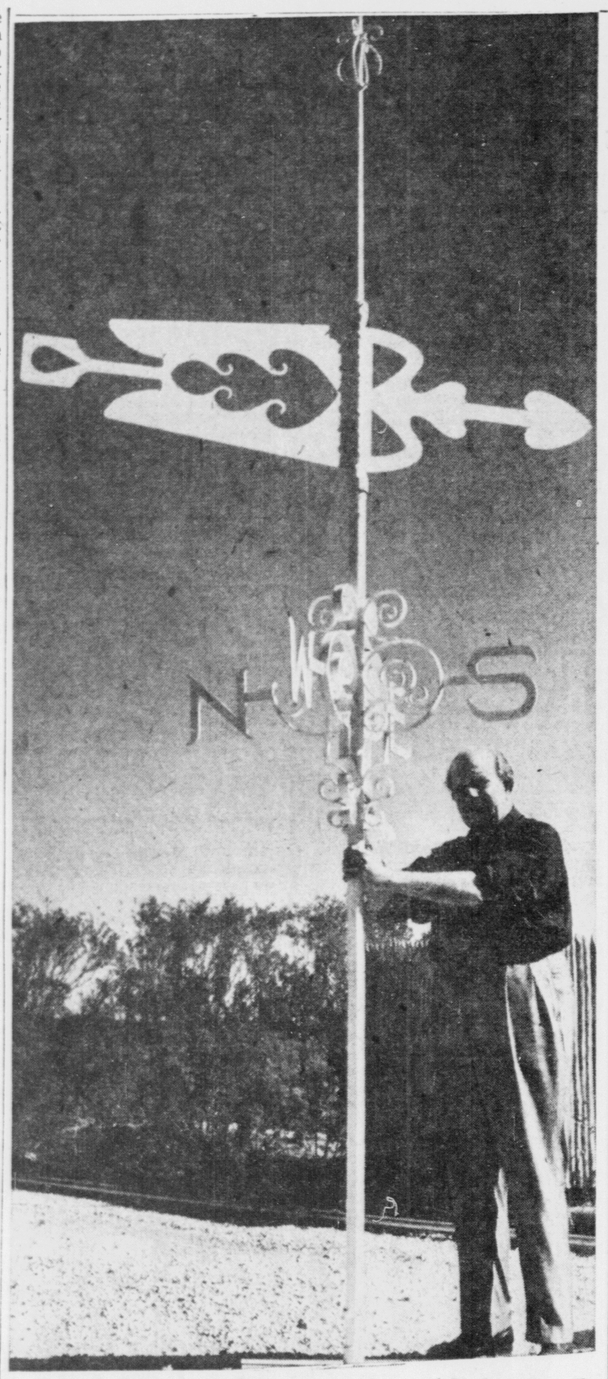

And to keep the beverages and melon cold until they are used, fill a galvanized steel tub about half full of coarsely cracked ice. Place the drinks and melon in the ice and pack more cracked ice around the top. The tub will fit into the trunk of the car if you are going to a forest preserve or can be carried into the backyard if you're having a home picnic.

IF YOU FASTEN a bottle opener to the tub handle with a strong piece of cord, each person can select and open his own beverage.

The galvanized steel tub, because of its sturdy, leakproof construction, will not be damaged by such use and can be put back to its everyday duties after the picnic.

For those who prefer to picnic in their own backyard and like to cook over an open fire, here's another suggestion: Store the charcoal for the outdoor grill in a galvanized steel pail. The pail's convenient handle makes it easy to tote the charcoal to the grill and when the picnic is over you can put the pail and excess charcoal back in the basement or garage to await the next party.

Fourteen-foot weather vane towers eight feet over the man who made it, six foot Ernest Hagerstrom, of Wheeling, for the roof of the new Aetna Life Insurance Company building in Park Ridge. The wind indicator is six feet long. —Lou Egner photo.

Said to be one of the largest vanes of its kind, the vane was designed by Victor Charn, architect for the building. The pointer revolves, without benefit of ball bearing, on a "spin pin" arrangement mounted on shaft-like weather vanes of old.

Designed along Georgian Colonial lines like the building itself, the vane was constructed, of aluminum and iron, in the Hagerstrom Metal Crafts Studio in Wheeling.

Federation Day Set August 21 At Arts Festival

Federation day will be observed August 21 at the Second Fine Arts Festival. A three-fold program has been planned for the day, for which reservations are still obtainable by mailing a check immediately for $6 to Mrs. Lee B. Cannon, treasurer, room 1515, 30 W. Washington st., Chicago. All four of the fine arts divisions will combine for a program of "American Ballet" on the club floor at the Palmer House.

FOLLOWING THE theme of General Federation, "The Preservation of our American Heritage," Neal Kayan will show how the various dance forms have been evident from early to contemporary dance in America, including folk, theatre, social and concert forms of this medium of expression.

Following the ballet program, the schedule for the day includes attending the Chicagoland Music Festival luncheon at the Palmer House. The climax for the day will be the historical pageant, "Women in American History." The script chosen from 23 submitted during the Fine Arts department contest held during the 1952-53 club year, was written by Mrs. Vera E. Coningham of the Middletown Woman's club in Illinois and her daughter, Mrs. Winifred E. Golden, a member of the Interest and Utility club of Havana, Ill.

THE THEME of the pageant is based on the contribution which women are making toward the achievement of a peaceful world and pays tribute to those who have contributed, each in her own way, toward advancing the position of women in present day life. Individual tickets for this pageant can be obtained for $1 from any member in the cast or at the door the evening of the performance. Members of Chicago Women's clubs will fill the roles.

The festival will be climaxed by merging with the Chicagoland Music Festival for three hours of entertainment at Soldier's Field August 22. Members and friends are urged to send in their last minute reservations to Mrs. Cannon immediately.

Ancient Hillside Horses

Of the 17 horses carved on hillsides in England, only the ones at Uffington and Westbury can claim real antiquity. Others were fashioned in the 18th and 19th centuries by landowners seeking the unusual in estate decorations. Famous British regiments of World War I cut their insignia into slopes near their camps. The Long Man of Wilmington and the somewhat shocking Cerne Giant are true antiques executed no man knows when or why. Gigantic crosses are to be found on a number of British hillsides. Two at Chiltern are undoubtedly very old.

Gems of Thought

WISDOM

If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.
—James 1:5

Wisdom is ofttimes nearer when we stoop than when we soar. —Wordsworth

Wisdom allows nothing to be good that will not be so forever; no man to be happy but he that needs no other happiness than what he has within himself; no man to be great or powerful that is not master of himself.
—Seneca

Wisdom is only in truth.
—Goethe

The intellect of the wise is like glass; it admits the light of heaven and reflects it.
—August W. Hare

Economy is the art of making the most of life. The love of economy is the root of all virtue.

See Business At Even Keel For Next Year

What is ahead for farmers during the next few years? That will depend mainly upon what is ahead for business in general. And on this critical subject Professor V. L. Bassie, director of the University of Illinois bureau of economic and business research, has some unusual ideas that merit serious study.

Most business forecasters have become more and more pessimistic during the past year. They say that business is just too good and that a return to normal will bring a recession. They look for serious unemployment to develop because of cutbacks in auto production, reduced military spending, smaller capital outlays by business, and less home building. Then, after a brief recession, many business forecasters seem to think that high-level prosperity will return for a long stay. Both ideas—early recession and quick recovery—are erroneous, Bassie believes.

A CUTBACK in auto production would not bring on a major recession. Auto production was low in 1952, but industrial and business activity was high. Actual military spending will be reduced very little in the next 12 months. Truce in Korea does not mean world peace, and any reductions in military spending will probably be more than offset by tax reductions and increases in spending by state and local governments.

Expenditures for business expansion are at an all-time high, and no letdown is in sight. As for home building, the cycle is long and changes are slow. Therefore, the decrease in home building in any one year is likely to be small.

For these reasons business may be about as prosperous in the second quarter of 1954 as it is now.

BUT IF AND WHEN depression does come, will it be mild and short? Probably not. Once industrial production falls, there will be excess, or surplus, capacity to produce. Then new plants and equipment will not be needed in anything like the present volume. And, as unemployment increases, people will not be willing or able to keep on buying new houses, autos, appliances, furniture, etc.

Many business forecasters think that reduced tax collections, unemployment compensation, and farm price supports would put business full speed ahead again. Actually these programs would slow the decline in business activity, but they would not speed it up. Any public works program by the federal government would be too little and two late to quickly restore full employment.

THOSE ARE the views of Professor Bassie. If he is right, how can farmers best plan for the future?

First, present markets for farm products are good and will probably continue strong through 1954. Keep production high. Do not expect to stay out of the game for a year and then to get back in when conditions are more favorable.

Second, figure that eventually there will be an industrial depression and a corresponding decline in farm prices and income. Plan ways of cutting expenses when necessary, and keep debts in shape so that you can stand a few years of lower incomes.

Way To Cool Homes Told By U. Of Ill.

Want to keep your house cool? The Small Homes Council at the University of Illinois has just compiled an 8-page circular on how to do it.

"Keeping the heat out of the house is the most important step," according to the bulletin which was prepared by engineers and architects. To accomplish this, they recommend controls on the outside of the house to keep the sun off walls, glass, and roof. They suggest insulation as a means of retarding flow of outdoor heat through walls and ceiling.

"MAJOR WALLS and glass areas should be on the south where they can be protected from the sun, or on the north where effects of the sun are negligible. Walls and glass areas should be at a minimum on east and west since these walls are more difficult to protect due to low angle of the sun in early morning and late afternoon."

Sun-controls to keep walls and glass cool include overhangs, trees and plantings, window louvers or blinds, awnings, louver-type insect screens, and light colors. Light-colored venetian blinds are 70 per cent effective in reducing heat load when they are outside the house, but only 40 per cent effective when inside the house. Dark-colored blinds when used inside are only 15 per cent effective. A light-colored inside roller shade, fully drawn, is 55 per cent effective in reducing heat load; a dark shade only 20 per cent.

FOR SUMMER comfort, the ceiling is the most important part of the house to be insulated, the Small Homes Council says. It urges that the space under the roof be adequately vented to allow hot air to get out.

Night air-cooling with fans reduces the temperature within the house more rapidly than merely opening windows, louvers, and doors. When the house is cooled at night, it enters a hot day at much lower temperature than if it still stored heat from the previous day.

Air-conditioning is suggested where the desired comfort cannot be obtained solely by house design and ventilation. The cooling equipment can be a separate unit or it can be combined with the heating equipment—either warm-air or hot-water heat circulation systems.

IN PLANNING for air-conditioning, the council suggests checking gas and electric equipment available; water, and gas or electric rates; local regulations of utility companies; local building codes and ordinances regarding water usage for air-conditioning; and the capacity of the electrical system of the house. Single copies of the circular, "Summer Comfort," are available free from the Small Homes Council, Mumford House, University of Illinois, Urbana, until Sept. 1, after which it will be 10 cents, the same as the 24 other circulars on home building which have been issued by the council.

Very few nature lovers can boast of having a tree in their home. Here's an elm with a 14 inch trunk occupying the center of a specially built patio at the home of the Edward Greens on Lake st. in Addison. The Greens' home, one of the oldest landmarks in the village, is said to have been built over a 100 years ago. At the base of the tree is a flower bed which blooms winter and summer. A special canopy, a protection from the weather, has been provided for the trunk which projects through the roof. It is constructed for the trunk's expansion during a seven year growth cycle.

Mrs. Green wanted the patio, but Mr. Green, an engineer, refused to have the tree chopped down. So they compromised.

Tells Average Costs Of Electricity For Most Appliances In The Home

A question often asked by a prospective buyer of a new electric appliance is:

"Will it raise my electric bill?"

Based on long and careful studies, the Public Service Company has a four word answer to the question:

"Yes. But not much."

Anytime a new appliance is added, the company points out, more electricity will be used. But, generally, the increase is so slight it probably won't be noticed.

THE COMPANY'S residential electric service is provided on an incentive rate (the more used, the lower the rate per unit) which goes down to two cents per kilowatthour for all over 100 used each month. Also, appliance manufacturers have improved their products over the years and today's household work-savers are more efficient than in the old days.

The company's studies also show that rates for its electric service have been steadily reduced making electricity one of the biggest bargains in the family budget.

THE AVERAGE householder in northern Illinois, according to the research, can do these things for a penny's worth of electricity:

Read by a 100-watt bulb for three hours.

Brew coffee for 30 minutes.

Cool off in front of an electric fan for six hours.

Run a food mixer for three hours.

Iron clothes for 35 minutes.

Listen to the radio for four hours.

Watch TV for an hour and 20 minutes.

Toast bread for 15 minutes.

Wash clothes for an hour and 20 minutes.

Tell time by the electric clock for 144 hours.

Refrigerate food for eight hours.

Vacuum rugs for 40 minutes.

* * *

THIS SAME average customer can sleep under an electric blanket all night for about a cent and a half. When the weather is hot, he can create his own cooling breeze with an attic fan for less than three cents a night.

If he owns an electric range, his wife can cook the family food for a whole month for about $2.

These examples, says Public Service, are indicative of the low cost of electricity which makes possible so many work-saving conveniences.

About Your Health

Migraine, frequently called one-sided headache, is one of the most distressing of all headaches and it calls for sympathy and understanding from the families and associates of the afflicted person.

In addition to excruciating pain, there are frequently also accompanying nausea and vomiting, as well as disturbance in the sensory or nerve centers, such as the eyes, hands or any part of the body respondent to sensation.

Because migraine attacks are commonly associated with a loss of appetite and because they produce nausea, they are sometimes called bilious headaches. Blurring of vision, dark spots before the eyes, bright flashes of light, double vision or a so-called fleeting blindness, are other more common symptoms of migraine headache.

SOMETIMES patients report dizziness or sensitivity to noises or odors. Depression or melancholy is usually evident in the patient during an attack; often it appears as a warning of an approaching headache.

While the condition appears in both sexes, it is more frequent in women than in men, commonly between the ages of 15 and 35.

Though the cause of the migraine headache is as yet unknown, some doctors attribute the pain to relaxation of the walls of the arteries in the upper neck and in the meninges or tissue covering the brain. The relaxation causes the arteries to dilate and permits the blood to pass through with extra force. In turn this over-stimulates various nerves and causes the headache.

Heredity seems to be a factor in migraine and it has been observed that susceptible persons are generally of a tense, nervous type, inclined to worry and overconscientiousness.

Words Often Misused

Distinguish between "disinterested" (impartial) and "uninterested" (not concerned or interested). "All judges should be disinterested." "He is uninterested in the work."

Do not say, "I wish to see you badly." It is better to say, "I wish very much to see you."

Distinguish between "gourmand" and "gourmet." "Gourmand" is a censorious term, meaning big eater; overeater. "Gourmet" means a lover of good food; an epicure; and it is complimentary.

Do not say, "We have been doing that right along." Say, "We have been doing that regularly (or, persistently)."

Do not say, "Always be congenial when you talk to your best friends." Say, "talk with your best friends."

"Exceptional" means out of the ordinary. "Exceptionable" refers to that to which exception may be taken, hence objectionable. Thus: "The child's reasoning power is exceptional." "I find your lack of punctuality exceptionable."

Do not say, "They would not have seen him had they have gone." Omit the second "have." Say, "had they gone."

Do not say, "His silence has got me very worried." Say, "His silence has (omit got) me very much worried."

Do not say, "Bob had no business to say that." Say, "Bob had no right (or, reason) to say that."

Although the adjective "worthwhile" is hyphenated, it is written as two words when used predicatively. We speak of worth-while films, but the film is worth while.

Do not write, "Your letter of July 11 has been referred to the writer." Say, "has been referred to me."

First Permanent Molar

A child's first permanent molar is the keystone of the dental arch and every means possible should be used to save the tooth. Many parents do not realize the first permanent molar is not a "baby" tooth because it erupts when first teeth are present. It is the first permanent tooth to erupt in a child's mouth. The tooth is vital because it influences the alignment of the permanent teeth, the closure of the jaws and facial contour.

Pour Paint in Pail For More Thorough Mixing, No Splashing

A galvanized steel pail is a handy aid to the amateur painter, both for mixing and for the actual painting job. Instead of mixing the paint in the can, pour it into the pail along with the amount of thinner, if any, desired. The paint can be mixed more thoroughly in the pail with no danger of splashing.

The painting can be accomplished right out of the pail, too, if you wish. To avoid spattering the paint, place a piece of wire across the mouth of the pail and fasten it to the holes where the pail's handle attaches. Then use the wire, instead of the edge of the pail, for removing excess paint from the brush. The paint will fall back into the pail, won't splatter.

EIGHT TEAMS NAMED FOR INTER-LEAGUE TOURNAMENT

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

AT INVERNESS where the Paddock Publications golf tournament will be held on Sunday, August 16, the front nine is the iron nine, while the back nine is the wood nine. Last week we described the easier but tricky front nine by holes. This week we shall give a short sketch of the long and difficult back nine where you have to be able to hit well with the wood clubs to get a decent score.

10—526 yards—Par 5

This is a tough par five. A creek runs across the fairway just below the tee and there are two hills to cross before getting on level ground 180 yards from the tee. The hole is a dog leg to the left and the hole is on a hill with a 15 foot deep trap on the right side and trees and deep rough on the left.

11—490 yards—Par 5

A drive of 200 yards down the left side of the fairway will reach a hill from which the green may be seen. From this point it is a down hill approach most of the way to a well trapped green which is long and slopes rather sharply. The fairway has a row of trees along the left side to cause trouble for hook shots. A rather easy par 5 for the player who gets a good drive staying in the fairway.

12—395 yards—Par 4

A tough par 4 because of the rolling terrain and the fact that the second shot usually must be taken from a side hill lie. The green is large and very sloping with traps on both sides and out of bounds on the rear. Both tee and green are quite high above the level of the fairway.

13—391 yards—Par 4

This hole is rated by Stanley Arendt, Inverness Pro, as the hardest hole on the course to par. It is one of the best golf holes in the area. The fairway dog legs to the left with out of bounds on the left in the form of a fence which juts out across the rough to the point where the fairway bends. A drive which reaches this point on top of a hill, leaves the player a shot of about 180 yards from one hill across a deep valley to the green which is elevated 10 feet or more above the fairway on a side hill with deep traps on both sides and a steep wooded bank behind it. The green is fast, sloping, and narrow.

14—345 yards—Par 4

An easy par 4 with a good drive down hill to a valley and a short second shot up a gradual slope to a flat green with shallow traps.

15—400 yards—Par 4

The tee shot is a blind shot from slightly behind a hill. After 100 yards the ball is on the level and played on a wide flat fairway to the green which is steeply elevated in a sharp bend at the end of the fairway. A huge oak tree stands at the left front corner of the green. There is a steep climb to the green from front and right with trees all around it. The green is made in two levels and if the pin is on the upper level, it makes for difficult putting if the approach is short and even worse with too long a shot with the pin on the front of the green. The green has no traps but other hazards make up for this lack.

16—368 yards—Par 4

The tee shot is across a slight gully and up a sloping hill. The green is not in sight of the tee. The fairway is rather narrow with an out of bounds fence all the way on the left from the edge of the tee. A row of trees on the right is a hazard for slicers. The green is flat and traps are very shallow.

17—342 yards—Park 4

Not a hard par 4. There is deep rough along the right side of the fairway from the edge of the tee to the green. The tee shot is slightly down hill. The approach to the green is up a small hill. The green is well trapped and inclined to be rather fast.

18—165 yards—Par 3

This is a tough par 3. The fairway slopes from the tee down hill to the green which is trapped with bunkers and sand on the rear and has a creek curving across the left side and front. A big willow tree branches out over the edge of the green from the right. The green is very sloping and not very large.

The player who is not used to Inverness finds putting the greatest problem, particularly if he plays regularly on daily fee courses. The majority of putts are up hill, down hill, or from side hill locations requiring skill and good judgment.

Poole Fords Beat Palatine Legion

by BOB FRISK

Back in ninth district action after four games of tournament play, Arlington's Poole Fords whipped neighboring Palatine last Friday, 7-4.

Dave Ryden extended his unbeaten string to five games as he scattered six hits while striking out 12 and walking five.

Hurling for Palatine was Tom Hillesheim and he turned in a creditable seven inning stint, allowing seven hits and four earned runs.

A BOBBLED fly ball off the bat of Bob Dotts enabled Arlington to take a 3-0 lead in the first frame.

The three-base error came with two on and a miscue by the shortstop brought in Dotts with the third tally of the inning.

Palatine came back with two runs in their half of the second on two walks, two errors and a single by Roger Kolze.

The sixth was a big inning for both teams.

LARRY FISCHER'S bases-loaded single climaxed a three run Heights rally and Kolze's one-bagger was the final offensive display of Palatine's two run outburst.

The Poole Fords added their final run in the seventh. Ted Bakalar singled home Wayne Hesch who had walked and stole second.

Fischer and Kolze each got two hits to pace their respective teams at bat.

GOING INTO this week's action Charley Verret still led the local in batting. He was rapping the ball at a .366 pace to easily out-distance Hesch's .326 mark.

Two league contests with Franklin Park and Northlake were slated to be held Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Games are still to be made up with Mount Prospect and Barrington.

Busse Motors Coast Into Tourney In Wauconda Golf

Riding on the cushion of a substantial lead built up over the past few weeks, Busse Motors coasted into Paddock Publications tournament as representative of the Wednesday night division of the Mount Prospect twilight golf league.

Apparently suffering from a slight let-down after their sustained drive of the last month the Motor boys suffered a 2½ to which put them in first place, 7½ defeat at the hands of Busse-Bierman Hardware. Barclay-Clearbrook Engineering, only 3¼ points behind Busse Motors, might have breezed into the lead had they been able to capitalize on the situation. They failed in the clutch, however and were soundly trounced by Annen & Busse, 8½ to 1½, enough to send them down to third place.

Mount Prospect State Bank, meanwhile, garnered 7 points at the expense of Kirchoff Insurance to ease into second by 1/6 of a point.

Members of the bakery team who will compete in the Paddock tourney include George Wickstrom, Richard Hitzeman, Norman Clucas and Harold Thorsell. Harold Albers is alternate.

Paddock Publications Meet Set For Inverness August 16

The squads are picked, the course is known, and the date is Sunday, August 16, for Paddock Publications fourth annual Inter-League Handicap golf tournament.

Tee-off time is 12:30 sharp, with competing golfers urged to be present 15 minutes early to insure prompt operation of the tournament.

Pairings of foursomes will be announced in next week's papers, with never more than one member of a team grouped together. Pairings will be made according to handicaps with the better golfers in the first foursomes.

CLOSEST LEADING margin of the eight leagues occurred in the Mount Prospect Tuesday division where Kruse Schlitz became eligible for the tournament by virtue of one-sixth of a point over George O'Day Realtors.

Stefanik Food, which lost out in a previous Paddock-sponsored bowling tournament by a flip of a coin after a league tie, made it this time by 1½ points in St. James league.

Other squads made it by 3 7/12 to 18 points. They are Busse Motors of Mount Prospect Wednesday league, Webber Paint of Rob Roy loop, Roselle Bakery of Roselle league, Stegings of Bensenville VFW golfers, Pine's Motel in Arlington Heights league, and Armours of the Men's Handicap league at Arlington country club.

GREENS FEES are all paid for the golfers. There will be no additional cost for competitors as they strive to bring home the large traveling trophy, the 12 individual medals, and the special low individual net prize of one dozen golf balls donated by Bensenville Sport 'N Work.

All of the prizes are on display this week at Flaherty Jewelers in Arlington Heights. Former winners of the tournament are Arlington Heights National Bank, Hook's Nursery, Wulbecker Furniture and Whitton Realtors.

Only sponsor repeating from previous golf tournaments is Busse Motors, who tied for third last year.

SIX GOLFERS in this year's tournament are old hands at Paddock tournaments. They've competed once before in the inter-league meet, all at Mount Prospect country club. None of them have ever won the tournament, however.

Jim Blizek and H. Schaeffer, both with Stefanik Food, are veterans. Blizek competed with Lingren's Men's Wear of Arlington Heights league last year, finishing third with 91-14:77. Schaeffer competed with Prospect Heights Pharmacy of St. James loop, gaining 7th and shooting 86-10:76.

Two members of Webber Paint are also repeaters. Otto Anderson was with Prospect Heights Appliances in 1951, finishing sixth while shooting 84-3:81. Art Orwiller competed with L-Nor Cleaners in 1950, finishing sixth and shooting 86-4:82.

JOHN BRENNAN, who sponsored his own Prospect Heights Pharmacy team in 1951, finishing seventh, shot 99-19:80 that year. Ralph Steging captained last year's entry from the Bensenville VFW league, finishing fourth and shooting 87-10:77.

Golfers can get a brief rundown on the course by reading the hole-by-hole account in last week's and this week's Mac Says. Practice rounds are not authorized by Paddock Publications at the privately-operated Inverness course, located on Roselle rd. west of Palatine.

The newspapers have contracted for just the eight championship foursomes August 16.

The beer team, beaten by Commissioner William Busse squad, 7 to 3, hung on to first place by the narrow margin of 1/6 of a point in spite of a startling comeback by Geo. Little League All-Star Tourney at Thillens

The 1953 boys' major league Chicagoland invitational tournament has been set to start September 1 according to an announcement made by Mel Thillens, President of the league. The finest boy baseball players in the Chicagoland area will compete in the tournament to be held in Thillens stadium, Devon and Kedzie aves., Chicago.

Trophies will be awarded to the first and second place winners and already over 15 leagues have entered their all-star teams. Any organized team or league may enter the championship play off and may play all 12 year olds if they desire. There is no entry fee or other tournament costs. Applications for tournament play may be obtained by contacting Thillens stadium, Devon and Kedzie aves. before the August 15 tourney deadline date.

The only qualifications required for tourney play is that all teams be uniformed and coached by an adult supervisor.

Detroit Lions to Field Veteran Team For All-Star Tilt Aug. 14

Although the Detroit Lions have 20 rookies in camp, it is not likely that more than four and possibly five will be regarded as possible participants in the contest when the world champions and college all-stars kick off in Chicago's Soldier field the evening of August 14.

There are several reasons. First, Coach Buddy Parker has 32 of the 33 men who won the championship last fall, including his entire No. 1 offensive unit and No. 1 defensive lineup.

Secondly, the importance of the all-star game and the limited amount of training time makes it impossible for the coaching staff to concentrate on the rookies. Only those who stand out head and shoulders over other candidates in positions where Parker feels the need of reinforcements will get any kind of a chance of breaking into the lineup a week from Friday night.

So far Gene Gedman of Indiana, a candidate for the most valuable player trophy in 1951 and 1952, has been the most impressive newcomer and may get into the game at right half back. At Indiana he was a full back. Aharlie Ane, a 265 pound Hawaiian from Southern California, has been switched from tackle to center and will be the first line of relief for Vince Banonis, a veteran pro, at center.

Coaches also are high on Lewis Carpenter, a 200 pound full back from Arkansas, who is rapidly assimulating the Lions' T and defensive maneuvers.

To Telecast Eleven College Grid Games

General Motors will telecast 11 complete college football games and parts of eight others over a 12 weeks span starting September 19.

In addition, GM announced that it is "prepared to sponsor one-station telecasts of important, sell-out games as they come up during the season."

On Oct. 24 and Nov. 7 the "TV game of the week" will in fact be a panoramic telecast in which portions of four games will be shown. Each game will be in a different section of the country.

Here's the full schedule:

Sept. 19—Oregon at Nebraska.
Sept. 26—Holy Cross at Dartmouth.
Oct. 3—Ohio State at California.
Oct. 10—Oklahoma at Texas.
Oct. 17—Tennessee at Alabama.

Release Schedule For Illini Cagers

Intersectional games with powerful foes from the Far West, South, and Missouri Valley areas plus 14 tilts with Big Ten foes highlight the 1953-54 University of Illinois basketball schedule announced by Harry Combes, head coach.

The Illini inaugurate regular-season competition with Alabama, Oklahoma A. & M., Utah State, and Ohio University, and continue rivalries with strong Middle Western opponents, Butler, DePaul, and Oklahoma. All are single-game affairs except for DePaul.

Illinois meets the perennially-strong Blue Demons of Coach Ray Meyer in Huff Gymnasium December 19, then returns to Chicago Stadium for a contest February 1. This game will mark Illinois' first appearance in the mammoth Chicago arena since NCAA playoffs of the 1952 campaign.

Big Ten play opens January 2 with Minnesota in Huff Gym. The Gophers, Michigan State, Indiana, and Purdue are single-game foes while the Illini meet Northwestern, Ohio State, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin in home and home contests.

Lutheran Hour Rally At Stadium September 27

Two hundred and fifty-eight Lutheran churches in Chicago and Northern Illinois are presently engaged in a cooperative effort planning for the Lutheran Hour rally to be held Sunday, September 27, in the Chicago stadium.

The awe-inspiring yet spectacular rally, in which a capacity audience of 25,000 will participate, will inaugurate the 21st season of broadcasting for The Lutheran Hour, the world's mightiest religious broadcast. This international program, familiarly known as "Bringing Christ to the Nations," will this year be heard in 56 languages over more than 1,100 stations in 58 different countries.

The rally will introduce the Rev. Lawrence Acker of Omaha, the first of a series of guest speakers who will appear on next season's broadcasts.

Fire Wall for Garage

A fire-retarding wall between a house and its attached garage is required by many building codes. The wall is meant to confine a garage fire until firemen arrive.

Palatine Girls in District Tournament

Six Palatine girls played in the district junior tournament at Edgewood Valley last Thursday and made good showings. Monnet Smith, leading Inverness junior player, shot 102 and 108 in the championship flight. Monnet had second low net with 174 as she has an 18 handicap.

Lynn Cunningham won a prize for low gross in the second flight with rounds of 115 and 120 for 235 gross and 147 net. Other girls competing were Kay Whitelaw of Arlington Heights, whose parents are Inverness members, who had 120 and 118 with gross 238 and net 148, Karen Axling with 125 and 115 for gross 240 and net 168, Sue Carpenter with 126 and 129 for 225 with net 167, and Susie Mulvey 133 and 136 for 269 with net 173.

The tournament winner was Judy Reinert and Olympia Fields who had low gross with 85 and 86 for 171 for 36 holes.

Charles Smith of Inverness, district junior chairman, had charge of the tournament.

It's Simple

Think Like A Fish And You'll Catch Fish

Ten per cent of the fishermen get 90% of the fish. This interesting fact has been discovered through numerous creel census over a period of years. As fish technicians also call attention to the fact that more fish die of old age than the fisherman ever catches we are annually allowing a very valuable food and recreational facility to go to waste. It behooves us to learn to catch fish.

All of us have heard of friends just back from fishing hot spots reporting that fishing was no good. In most cases there is a logical sounding excuse why few fish were caught. Yet if we check up we find that someone did catch fish in spite of the weather or other proposed reason for poor fishing. If we check further we will find that he used a different technique, one that fit the changing conditions.

RECENTLY A friend returned from Canada reporting real good fishing. Another group of friends returned from the same lake after fishing about the same time and claimed the lake was fished out. Just one factor seemed to make most of the difference.

The successful fisherman did his fishing early in the morning and late in the evening. The others went out about 10 a.m. and labored through the heat of the day with little result.

Fish don't like to be in hot water either, so usually, when the weather is warm they go down to the strata of water that provides the most comfortable temperature. The successful fisherman usually will experiment until he finds the depth the fish prefer and then put his bait down to that depth.

WITH WEEDY conditions at this time of year in many lakes, accuracy is more important to the caster. If he can put his plug or fly in the small pockets in the moss or lily pads he will get better results. If his accuracy is poor he spends most of his time cleaning fouled up baits. The weeds are the place to fish because the big fish chase the little fish into this cover and then hang around to catch the unwary.

Learn to think like a fish and you'll catch fish.

Mary Ann McDonald Finishes Tam Tourney

Mary Ann McDonald, daughter of Pat McDonald, Rob Roy golf club pro, carried local honors the furthest in the All-American tournament at Tam O'Shanter last week. In play ending Monday, Mary Ann shot 95-87-95-92: 369. She was the only one of twelve local golfers able to complete the tournament, most of them being eliminated after the first 18 holes.

Mary Ann finished 28th among the women, ninth among the amateurs.

Other golfers from this area:

Men's professional, Gene Battistoni, Arlington Heights, 38-36:74, 38-39:77, withdrew; Donald Lynch, Palatine, 40-38:78, needed 75 to qualify.

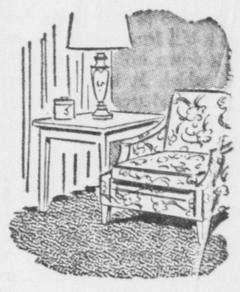

Men's amateur, needed 75 to qualify, Otto Anderson, Wheeling, 85; Len Arnold, Mount Prospect, 80; Brad Godfrey, Arlington Heights, 81; Fred Hertel, Arlington Heights, 83; Dick Hauff, Arlington Heights, 84; Thomas Rowader, Prospect Heights, 86; Eugene Lisch, Wheeling, didn't play.

Women's amateur, needed 86 to qualify, Mrs. L. S. Ovitt, Prospect Heights, 50-51:101; Dorothy Wearing, Palatine, didn't play.

DON'T SQUARE-OFF CORNERS

Plan the corners of your room so that they will contribute grace and charm to the overall effect. Don't shove a square or rectangular table into a corner. This is apt to look ungainly and rigid. Remember, a room that's all straight lines and angles is not usually a restful room.

USE GRACEFUL CURVES . . .

. . . to relieve the rigidity of too many straight lines and create a softer, more graceful corner grouping. Use a cicular pedestal table with an upholstered chair and a lamp for an attractive and convenient corner arrangement. This will also eliminate the danger of wall blemishes caused by sharp corners being jabbed into the wall.

NEW LIGHTING BRIGHTENS SMALL APARTMENT

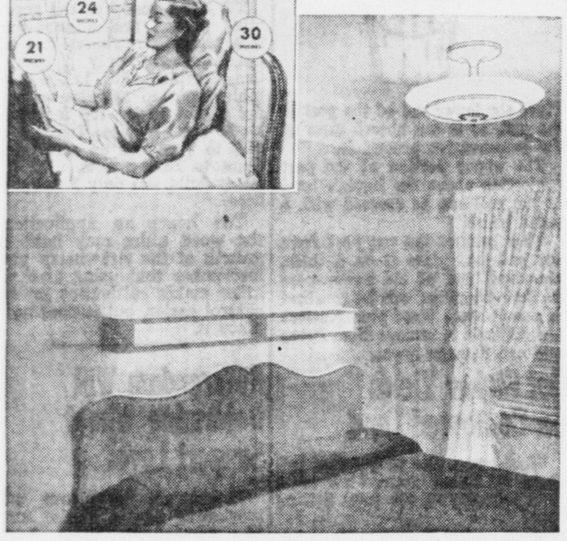

Upper left — Lighted valance, ready-wired and easy to install, gives new beauty to windows and air of spaciousness to small rooms.

Lower right — Small dining areas require flexible lighting as well as flexibility in room arrangements. New style fixture has upward lighting and specially controlled spotlight to highlight table when moved to center of the room for dining.

Proof that you don't have to wait until you have your own home to enjoy the beauty and comfort of modern, easy-on-the eyes lighting is shown in the pictures above of a living-dining room in a small apartment.

First step in creating an air of spaciousness in the small living room was a lighted valance over the double windows.

WITH PERMISSION of the building owner, one of the new commercially available lighted valances was installed. These new ready-wired, easy-to-install units which have long lines of flourescent light concealed in them, give an effect of expensive "built-in" lighting yet are inexpensive enough for young moderns modest budgets.

Best of all, they can often be taken down and packed up with the rest of the furnishings when you move.

Notice in the photograph on the upper left above what a pleasant glow the lighted valance gives to the window end of the room. Built-in traverse tracks eliminate the need for additional drapery fittings.

In addition to giving soft upward lighting, light also spreads down the draperies to make them luminous and to reflect light across the room in the same way daylighting does. When mounted, all the valance needs to operate is to be plugged into a convenience outlet.

ANOTHER "you can take it with you idea" in this small apartment is the new dining room fixture. Because the owner agreed that the family might replace the regular fixture with their own while they occupied the suite, they invested in one of the new versatile spotlight fixtures.

Designed for both upward and downward lighting the new fixture serves many family needs in this small dining alcove.

WHEN THE table is moved into the center of the room for dining, a special spotlight built into the center of the fixture adds a dramatic touch to table settings. The spotlight and the upward lighting (the fixture has two-way lighting and may be wired permanently or operated separately with a full-chain) give excellent amounts of light for pattern cutting and measuring while sewing.

Notice how the homemaker has completed her lighting arrangement with a small tole lamp on the dinette table when it is pushed against the wall.

Both the ceiling fixture and lighted window valance are ideal selections for light conditioning a new home, an apartment or older home.

Loutsch Winner In Niles Township Collector Recount

Arthur J. Loutsch, 6210 Lincoln ave., Morton Grove, a real estate man, Thursday was declared the winner of the contest for collector of Niles township by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki after a recount of the ballots was held in the court Wednesday.

The petition for the recount was brought by William C. Wolters, 8132 Kenton ave., Skokie, an automobile company office manager, who ran against Loutsch and lost the election by one vote. The original count was 5,452 for Loutsch and 5,451 for Wolters.

Judge Jarecki ordered the recount Wednesday when the case came up before him. The recount showed 5,430 votes for Loutsch, a loss of 22 ballots, and 5,402 votes for Wolters, a loss of 49 ballots. Joseph Smietanka, attorney for Wolters, said his client lost 44 votes in the fourth precinct of Skokie when a clerk initialed the ballots instead of an election judge. Loutsch lost 22 votes in the same precinct.

Smietanka said no errors were found in 19 of the 46 precincts. Nicholas Berkos was the attorney for Loutsch. Six representatives from each party supervised the recount of the votes. Loutsch will take office on January 1, 1954.

America Eats Thirty Percent of World's Meat

The United States produced nearly 30 per cent of the world's meat supply last year.

Consumers in this country ate just a little bit more than 30 per cent of the world's meat supply last year even though they make up only about seven per cent of the world's population.

According to Walter J. Mills, University of Illinois farm economist, America exported about 12.5 million pounds of meat in 1952 and imported about 50 million pounds.

Imports amounted to about 3 per cent of our total meat supply.

About one-fourth of our lard production is exported, Wills points out. Dollars to pay for this lard come from meat sales to this country. Exports probably strengthen the lard market more than imports weaken the livestock market, the economist says.

European countries last year produced more meat than we did. Production in those countries totaled about 40 per cent of the world supply of 77.2 billion pounds.

National Sales Up

The consolidated sales of National Tea Co. for the four weeks ending July 18 amounted to $35,501,738 as compared with $30,933,256 for the corresponding period of 1952, an increase of 14.76%.

Sales for the year to date amounted to $245,086,505 as compared with $201,172,746 for the corresponding period in 1952, an increase of 21.82%.

The number of stores in operation decreased from 814 in 1952 to 730 at July 18, 1953.

NEWS FOR THE FARMER

Carl F. Mees — Adviser and Editor

Farmers To Vote By Next Week On Wheat Allotments

With wheat allotments and quotas possible this year, North Cook county farmers may be faced with the problem of what to do with those extra acres they might have planted to wheat but won't if the quota system goes through, Maurice Umbdenstock, SCD conservationist, said.

Secretary of agriculture Ezra Benson has announced that farmers will vote in a referendum on August 14 on whether they want to establish wheat marketing quotas for themselves.

If two-thirds vote in favor of them, they will guarantee themselves 90 per cent of parity on their limited crop. If they vote against quotas, they can grow as much as they please, but can only be guaranteed 50% of parity.

IN ORDER to qualify for the 90 per cent support price, the wheat farmer will have to stay within the allotment set for him on the basis of the national surplus and demand.

"The referendum quotas and allotments will be handled by the Production and Marketing Administration office, of course," Umbdenstock said. "But it will raise the question in the farmer's mind of what to do with the extra acres he had been planning for wheat this summer." Emil Hattendorf, chairman of the North Cook county district board, pointed out that what the farmer does is primarily his own business. "But our district," he said, "operates on the basis of putting each acre of land to its best use, which over the years, means its most profitable use.

"There are various ways of putting those acres to good use in North Cook county. Some suggestions might help the farmer solve some of those problems."

ONE OF THE BIG values of winter wheat, Umbdenstock said, is the cover it gives the ground over winter. Rye is one alternative that serves the same purpose as wheat. It gives the farmer a nurse crop for his meadow seeding and allows him to stay on his rotation.

Oats and barley can be seeded in the spring as a replacement for the wheat.

In some instances, farmers have seeded oats in the fall, even though they winter kill, just to get the nurse crop for the meadow seedings and a little cover during the winter. This is particularly true with pasture improvement where no spring competition for the legumes is wanted.

Deadline Nears for Junior Hog Show

Closing entry date for the 1953 Chicago junior hog market show and marketing day is Monday, August 10, William E. Ogilvie, manager of the show announced.

The Chicago stock yards are making arrangements for a large number of entries to be shown in the International Amphitheatre August 25. No entry fees are charged for this show other than the regular marketing charges of yardage and commission.

All hogs exhibited at this show will first be classified as to their grade and later sold on the basis of these grades, as judged on a live basis.

Entry cards and premium lists are available in the offices of county farm advisers and vocational agricultural instructors, or by application to the show headquarters, Union Stock Yards, Chicago 9.

Fewer Hens Mean Loss Of Egg Market for State

Illinois poultrymen have been warned that the state's poultry population is declining. H. M. Scott, head of the poultry work at the University of Illinois, told a poultry group yesterday that midwest flocks have been going down in size more rapidly than flocks in other sections.

Illinois, he said, had 22 per cent fewer layers in 1952 than in 1944, high point in recent years. The 1952 numbers are about equal to 1935 numbers.

Wisconsin numbers are down 25 per cent; Missouri, 32 per cent; and Kansas, 33 per cent. Indiana has declined only 12 per cent since 1944.

Part of the Illinois reduction in layers is offset by an increase in egg production. Consumption of eggs is also up, however, and eastern producers are increasing their efficiency more rapidly than midwestern growers and are taking over more of the market.

Unless Illinois wants to keep on losing out, producers are going to have to make their operations more profitable. They can do so by better breeding, feeding, management and marketing. They don't have to wait for "better times," Scott said.

Can Use Oats And Wheat For Corn In Hog Ratios

If oats and wheat get cheap enough after harvest time, it will pay you to use them for part of the corn in hog rations.

H. G. Russell, extension livestock specialist at the Illinois college of agriculture, says that wheat is as good as corn, pound for pound. You can substitute wheat entirely for corn in hog rations if it is cheaper.

Oats, on the other hand, are as valuable as corn, pound for pound, only if they do not make up more than one-fourth of the total ration. You should not use more than 1 part of oats to 3 parts of corn.

IF YOU FEED more oats than this ration, your hogs will not gain so fast and the cost of the gains will go up. Oats should be finely ground so that the hogs will like them better and eat more of them.

Wheat should be coarsely ground or fed whole. Finely ground wheat is too floury and unpalatable.

Russell points out that, with corn at $1.50 a bushel, wheat will have to cost not more than $1.60 a bushel and oats 80 cents a bushel to be as cheap as corn.

Peaches on Farm Television Program

Those who love peaches—fresh, frozen, or five-foot-five and blonde—will be able to see and hear about their favorites on the "Farmtown, U. S. A." television show Saturday, August 8.

Shirley Eaton, Illinois peach queen, two peach growers, and a home economist will present the story of peaches, from tree to home freezer, on the show.

George Menard, "Farmtown" masfer of ceremonies, will chat with Harvey Hartline, Anna, Illinois, peach grower and vice president of the national peach council. Hartline will discuss peach growing and marketing, with emphasis on the current Illinois peach crop now being harvested.

"Farmtown, U. S. A." is presented by the Illinois Agricultural Association, state-wide Farm Bureau organization, and the Pure Milk Association, an organization of Chicagoland dairy farmers. The show can be seen at 5 p. m. (CDT) over station WBBM-TV, channel 2.

Buy Thin Calves for Best Use of Beef

The man who buys steers to utilize roughage and pasture will get more for his feed and labor if he: (1) sticks to calves; (2) buys them thin; (3) winter feeds to get no more than 1½ pounds of gain a day.

These are the conclusions Ernest C. Martin, Kansas cattle feeder, comes up with, reports Capper's Farmer.

Martin's experience last winter with 148 calves emphasizes the importance of buying thin feeders. The calves, from a drouth area in the southwest, were thrifty but thin enough to gain well on a ration of silage and hay.

On a daily feed of 35 pounds of sorgo silage, 3 pounds of alfalfa hay and 1 pound of cottonseed meal, they gained 1½ pounds daily to March 15.

"If they gained more than that in winter, they would be too fleshy to make the most economical use of grass," Martin says. "Bigger steers would eat more feed, and probably wouldn't make any more gain. From now on I will stick to cattle young enough to make the most efficient use of feed."

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

Make Posts Last Longer

ILLUSTRATED is a simple and neat technique for applying a wood preservative, such as creosote solution, to fence and porch posts before they are placed into the ground.

Fill a galvanized steel pail about half full of the liquid preservative.

Place the lower end of the post in the pail, so it can absorb some of the preservative around it.

The upper portion of the post projecting above the liquid's level in the pail can be covered with a paint brush.

Then remove the wet post from the pail and place it on a thick, absorbent pad of old newspapers so that drippings will be confined to a safe area. Wood preservatives are difficult to remove from floors and can damage lawns.

Get Higher Yields On Contoured Land

Would you like to get five bushels of wheat from the same land where you are now getting four?

Ernest G. Walker, extension soil conservation specialist at the Illinois college of agriculture, reports that tests have shown that much improvement on contoured wheat land.

Planting a crop on the contour has been shown to step up yield by 17 per cent over drilling the seeds up and down the hill. On land that normally produces a 25-bushel crop, that's a 4-bushel increase.

Walker says that apparently the drill rows running across the slope on the contour lines hold back enough more water and plant food to give this increased yield.

See either the conservationist with your local soil conservation district or your county farm adviser for help in getting your contour wheat planting plan into operation.

Local DHIA Herd In State's 10 Highest

Cook county had one of the state's 10 highest producing herds on dairy herd improvement test for May, reports farm adviser, Carl F. Mees.

Martin Loeber, Palatine, whose herd of 33 Purebred Holsteins averaged 1277 pounds of milk and 51.7 pounds of butterfat per cow, ranked 7th in fat production among the 1,723 herds on test in Illinois during the month.

The state average for June was 866 pounds of milk and 32.6 pounds of fat per cow. Mr. Loeber is a member of the Cook county dairy herd improvement No. 2 association.

Renovation Helps Old Strawberry Beds On Farms

You can improve next year's yield and quality of your strawberry crop by renovating your bed this summer.

As a matter of fact, much of this year's short crop was due to failure to work over old beds last year, says J. C. McDaniel, extension horticulturist at the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

BEDS FILLED with old plants and not cultivated failed to establish strong new plants from runners. When the soil dried out, the old root systems were not able to support vigorous growth.

First step in the renovation process is to clip off the foliage with your lawn mower, the specialist says. Clip high enough to take just the leaves and not injure the crowns.

Then thin out the old plants, leaving enough to renew the bed. Broadcast a mixed fertilizer with some manure if you have it, and then cultivate so that you leave 15-inch strips of the more vigorous plants.

TO KILL many of the germinating grasses and annual weeds that plague strawberry bed owners, you can apply a spray of Crag Herbicide No. 1. Use 5 level tablespoons in a gallon of water for a plot 10 by 100 feet (or 20 by 50 feet) in size. That's a rate of 3 to 4 pounds an acre on medium to heavy soils. On light, sandy soils, use only 2 pounds an acre.

Too heavy an application of the weed killer may hold back growth of the strawberry plants. Remember that using the weed killer makes cultivation for weed control easier, but it does not replace it.

Referendum Will Determine Wheat Support Level

If growers disapprove wheat marketing quotas in the August 14 referendum, price support loans for the 1954 crop wheat will be greatly reduced.

According to Carl M. Bormet, chairman of the Cook county PMA committee, if quotas are turned down, the price support loan will be cut almost in two, and the loan will be available only for those who do not exceed their wheat acreage allotments. Those who exceed their allotments have no assurance of any price support.

This, according to Chairman Carl M. Bormet, is the decision which Cook county wheat growers will be up against when they vote in the referendum. If quotas are approved, and it takes a two-thirds majority to approve, wheat loans to cooperators will be at 90 percent of parity. If the vote is unfavorable, the loan to cooperators will be 50 percent of parity. Parity as of June 15, 1953 was $2.42 a bushel. Ninety percent of this figure is $2.18, whereas 50 percent is $1.21.

Farmers who will be engaged in the production of wheat in 1954 on a farm on which the acreage to be planted to wheat will be in excess of 15 acres and who are entitled to share in the proceeds of the crop as owner or tenant are considered eligible to vote in a referendum.

Voting place in North Cook county will be at the County PMA Office, 201 N. Dunton ave., Arlington Heights, August 14, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

'Allegro' at Music Theater August 11-16

There are many reasons to recall "On Your Toes" with warm affection, paramount among them being the fine rollickingly satirical score of Richard Rodgers, and the incisive, enormously adroit and witty lyrics of Lorenz Hart. Here the public will at last have a chance to see this delightfully performed and wonderfully cast show at Music theater when "On Your Toes" begins Tuesday, August 11 through August 16, making its Chicago premiere.

Heading the cast will be Mia Slavenska, red-haired beauty who came to America as prima ballerina of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, who will have her first speaking role in the part of Vera Barnova, prima ballerina of the troupe—and sharing starring honors with Miss Slavenska will be David Tihmar, Music Theater's director, himself premiere danseur with the Ballet Russe—who will play the part of Phil Dolan Jr., the tap dancer who turns to serious dancing.

To Show Gladiolus In Show August 10-14

Harold Woermer, 15 Elmhurst rd., Prospect Heights.
Arthur E. Nelson, 106 E. McDonald ave., Prospect Heights.
Arthur Raven, 6 W. Willow rd., Prospect Heights.
Walter J. Gendtner, rte 1, box 247, Arlington Heights.
M. J. Thue, 515 S. Emerson st., Mt. Prospect.
H. C. Durland, 510 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect.

The exhibit is staged in conjunction with the northern section of the Illinois Gladiolus society. The doors will be open beginning Monday noon until 5 p. m. and from Tuesday to Friday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Admission is free.

Carleton Carpenter is co-starring at Salt Creek summer theatre with Buddy Ebsen in the popular comedy "Mister Roberts" through Saturday, August 8, to be followed by June Havoc in "Affairs of State," August 10 to 15. Matinee performances are given every Wednesday and Saturday.

'Madwoman of Chaillot' Next at Showcase

Hope Summers, talented producer of Showcase theatre, will present for the fifth and last production of the summer season, Jean Giraudoux's delightful comedy "The Madwoman of Chaillot," opening Tuesday, August 11, for a limited two week run, at Evanston's airconditioned Showcase theatre.

For the title role of "Madwoman" as the Countess Aurelia, Miss Cavada Humphrey has been imported from New York.

Hope Summers, brilliant producer-actress of Showcase, will portray Mme. Constance, the "Madwoman of Passy." David Lewis, the theatre's proficient director, will take the leading man's part of an eloquent Ragpicker.

'The Heiress' Next At Chevy Chase

The current attraction "The Curtain Rises" at the colorful Chevy Chase summer theatre has lured large crowds to the suburban show place.

Featured players in the smash show are Barbara Moro, Burt Kaiser and George Womack. Kaiser, though fresh from California for his Chevy Chase engagement, is originally a Chicago actor. He appeared here on local TV screens in such shows as "They Stand Accused," "Mystery Players" and "Stand By For Crime."

Tuesday, August 11, brings "The Heiress" to Chevy Chase country club tent. Vera Ward, comely Evanston actress who won the plaudits of audiences through her sparkling performance in "Curious Savage," was chosen for the lead in the new drama.

Robert McDowell on College Camp Music Series August 9

Robert McDowell, the gifted young Kentucky pianist will give the sixth concert in this summer series of "Music By The Lake" Sunday evening, August 9, at College Camp, Wisconsin. He does not conform in any way to the usual, and much publicized, legend attached to keyboard virtuosos. He was not a child prodigy and makes it quite clear no one in his entire family before him ever showed any musical inclination whatsoever.

He does not even look like the proverbial long haired musician. As a matter of fact, he looks for all the world like a typical American college boy, and people seeing and hearing him for the first time in concert are surprised to find so much poetry, intensity, and preception in the playing of one so boyish and so "uncomplicated looking."

McDowell made his debut at Chicago's Kimball Hall as a result of winning the music contest of the Society of American Musicians, but he considers his first appearance as guest soloist with the Chicago symphony orchestra December 13, 1949, as his real debut.

Yankees Take Lead In Arlington Little League

By the Dad of A Little Leaguer

The Yankees of the Arlington Heights Little League are following the pattern of the New York Yankees. They're in first place, too—and knocking the cover off the ball, Mickey Mantle style.

A a matter of fact, the Arlington Heights Yankees have a player who outdoes Mantle—Dennis Schumacher, who pitches, hits and plays the outfield.

Until little Dennis was traded by the Giants to the Yankees, he had tried his hand at first base and third base, the latter a most unorthodox position for a southpaw.

AT THE HALF-WAY mark of the Arlington Heights Little League's inaugural season, the Yankees are on top with four victories, one defeat and a tie—a 4-4 deadlock with the Giants Monday night—and Schumacher's pitching and hitting have showed the way.

Operating in left field, Dennis knocked out three hits as the Yankees collected a total of 21 safe blows in smothering the Red Sox, 22-4, last week Wednesday night before a stunned crowd at Recreation park.

* * *

ALAN HUTCHINSON pitched that one for the Yankees, limiting the Red Sox to five hits and helping his own cause with two doubles. Center fielder Kent Danes hit four-for-four for the Yanks, third baseman Bill Burfeind three-for-four and one of first baseman Fred Fischer's two hits was a home run.

Jeff Pratt picked up two of the Red Sox four hits as four pitchers failed to quiet the bats of the Yankees, Ken Hadlund, Pratt, Bill Ferry and Ricky Swanson.

On Saturday, Schumacher was the pitching and batting hero as the Yankees upset the league-leading Braves, 6-2, in a replay of a game that originally finished in a 1-1 tie.

DAVE BUREN started on the mound for the Yankees, but gave up two runs in the first inning.

With two outs, Schumacher relieved him and set the Braves down with a single hit—a single by Allan Sander in the fifth—the remaining 5-1/3 innings.

The only other Brave hit was a looping single by Dennis Hartman off Buren in the first when faulty base running probably cost the Braves two more runs.

Schumacher, a lefthanded hitter, singled sharply to left field to drive in the first Yankee run and repeated the feat in the fourth to send home two more runners. Three more runs in the sixth clinched things for the Yanks.

John Weisenbach hurled the route for the Braves, giving up only four hits, but seven walks, shaky support and lack of base hits by his teammates didn't help him any.

* * *

MONDAY NIGHT of this week, the Yankees, trailing 4-1, averted defeat by pushing over three runs in a spectacular final inning to eke out a 4-4 tie that kept the fans on their feet from start to finsh.

The Giants collected nine hits off Tom Klement, Eugene Bauer getting three of them and Bob Bennet two. The Yankees got only four off Tom Taylor—but all at the right time.

Tuesday night's battle between the Braves and the Red Sox was postponed because of wet grounds. There is a strong possibility that this game, and probably one or two others to be replayed, will be reeled off Saturday at Recreation park.

IN ANOTHER league game, the Cardinals overpowered the win-less Dodgers, 8-4, last week Thursday as Dave Kussow and D. Snell shared the pitching honors for the winners. D. Snell abetted the cause with two hits. Don Gerken smacked two hits for the Dodgers.

In a meeting of the Arlington Heights Little League board of directors Monday night at the fieldhouse, Wally Grace, director of athletics of the local high school, was named chairman of the team managers committee to succeed Bob Hutchinson, who is now assistant to president Lloyd Taylor.

Marv and Ron Prellberg were appointed official scorekeepers, and will handle the public address system at all games.

Retired T. C. Hart Welcomes Schreiber to Retired Status

by T. C. HART

A long familiar face will be missing from the streets and the village offices of this territory from now on.

Martin Schreiber of Barrington, district manager of the Public Service Co. for many years, retired last Friday after forty years with the Public Service Co.

Martin was always an active fellow in civic affairs and took a great interest in Lions club activities. He was one of the organizers of and first president of the Barrington park district.

He was an enthusiastic follower of athletics, especially when he thought the Barrington high school had a winning team and he had a good chance to pick up a little bet from Roy LaLonde or Tom Hart, Palatine boosters.

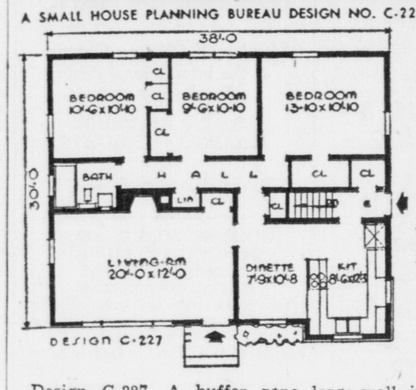

Martin was an able trouble shooter and his mild manner and easy going ways had a way of soothing irate village officials when those officials had some gripe about Public Service.

For the last few years Martin has not been in the best of health and now with his retirement will have a chance to take life easy and regain his strength.

He was always ready to pit his wits against the jokesters of the towns in his territory and he is going to be missed from those towns where he was a well known figure for these many years. His many friends throughout his old territory wish him every success in his new loafing job and hope that he enjoys to the utmost his well earned retirement.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-227

Now Ideas In Homes

Design C-227. A buffer zone consisting of the center hall and a row of closets, divides the plan into two sections, the sleeping area in the rear and the living room, dinette and kitchen in front. The kitchen-dinette arrangement is interesting with the counter and cabinet between them opening on both sides, sink under front window and work counter under side window.

Stairs to the basement lead down from the side entrance vestibule which also has a large closet. Other features include large walk-in closet in right bedroom, wardrobe closets, linen cabinet, coat closet, picture window, fireplace, planting area, flower boxes and low roof lines with wide eave overhanging.

Plans call for frame construction, wide siding, asphalt shingles and a colorful touch of brick facing. Floor area is 1,159 sq. ft. with 22,021 cu. ft.

For further information about design C-227, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Train Whistles

Following a recent visit to our house a relative remarked at parting, "We had a nice visit, and I felt quite at home; it's just as noisy here as where I work." He was referring to the noise of the planes and the trains.

As residents fairly new to Mount Prospect, but not to this area, we are frankly amazed at official indifference to the twin nuisances of railroads—noise and dirt. Our suburban neighbors to the south tolerate neither, and in Chicago smoking engines frequently draw stiff fines. Railroad officials will tell you that an excessively smoking engine is wasting coal. Thus a few heavy fines will eventually save them money as well as protect our health and property.

APROPOS the noise: there is no question but that train whistles in Mount Prospect are unnecessarily loud. In fact, at crossings protected by gates they serve no purpose, other than that of a nuisance, that is not served far more effectively by the gates themselves.

To signal any crossing a few blocks away with a blast clearly heard for several miles, is sheer disregard of the rights of adjacent property owners. Motorists at crossings are entitled to adequate warning; but there is no excuse for a blast at full volume often maintained after half the train is beyond the crossing.

Moreover, whistles and horns are of extremely doubtful value as an effective warning. If the motorist doesn't realize he's at a crossing, a whistle is meaningless no matter how loud, for its sound, like that of the train itself, is omnidirectional.

OBVIOUSLY what is needed is fully adequate protection at the crossing. This calls for gates or crossing guards and reduced speed of trains at all crossings within village limits. If it is necessary to guard such crossings, whistles simply will not do the job.

True, gates cost more than whistles; but surely the railroad does not want it said its policy calls for saving money and spending lives. Such cost is little enough to ask for in exchange for the privilege of right-of-way over all traffic, (which by the way is not granted to truckers.)

In any case, relatively ineffective whistles afford neither reliable protection to motorists nor consideration of the comfort of villagers. The cooperation of the railroad should be sought or, failing that, a restrictive ordinance calling for heavy fines should be adopted.

Likes Postmen

Not since reading "The Barefoot Mailman" have I been so tickled as today's gem by George C. Petersen.

The lad packaged his cynicism too beautifully to be true and of course, the letter will be reprinted throughout the length and breadth of this land. Such perception and talent cannot simply be filed away along with other Paddock Publications.

If, on the other hand, George C. Peterson could possibly imagine the tremendous role a postman plays in the lives of his daily customers . . . he would feel like a king. The millions of eyes that follow him each minute he is on the beat and the hearts that go flip whenever he drops a letter in the box—the anxiety he relieves, the happiness he creates . . . and that awful let-down when he doesn't stop at all . . . he should sit up all night and pen letters to those he disappointed that day.

OUR POSTMAN is one of my life's worries. He crashes around in all kinds of weather minus a hat, raincoat, muffler, sunshade, dog biscuits and too often without any mail for me. But maybe tomorrow he'll become the most important man in my life. So, I resent him only slightly when he steams past the address and deposits a juicy bundle of readables to my neighbor. Manana, manana!

Once upon a time we were losing a large volume of mail in little dribs and drabs — between vacations to Florida and Mexico. When the winter snows thawed, I had a ball, scooping up the latest letters you ever read, in the garden. A little brown-eyed creature, age 6 and named Jill had raided our box from time to time and tossed them willy nilly on the grass. Happily, Jim stood up for our insurance agent at his marriage or he wouldn't have believed it. And further, I never dreamed my sis gave me a new niece . . . until I found the Stork news under the snows.

AS GEORGE C. Petersen had fun in nearly quoting Thomas Jefferson (who invented the mailboz) let me (didn't he?) indulge in this whimsie from the 1953 Edition of Encyclopedia Britannica:

"There are several varieties of express delivery, the most useful perhaps of which is that by which letter or packet may, at any time at which messengers are on duty, be despatched by special messenger to its destination on payment of a small mileage fee. This is the only postal service which is not limited in inanimate objects; dogs may be taken by the messenger, and any other live animal if enclosed in a suitable receptacle; and a stranger may use the express service to have himself conducted to his destination."

What vistas this opens to the foot-sore postman!

IN SERIOUSNESS, I can't recall a Christmas that we didn't tie an envelope to the tree for the postmans with a few bills in it for his steady and unfailing visits to us throughout the year. He is Santa Claus all year 'round . . . always there with the surprises!

And let me give you a clue, George C. Petersen: One of the handsomest, healthiest, kindest, doll-bag mail-bag couriers in Arlington Heights is living up almost 22 years in the service and I don't believe he's ever known a sick day.

He wouldn't dare!

* * *

YOURS IS A heartfelt letter. I intend to dramatize it to the nth degree.

The latest rage North Shore is to fill in as a milkman. What next?

Reporter Gets 'Off-the-Record' Story Of Volz Trip To Europe

George Volz, who is probably the most vacationing traveler in Arlington Heights, returned two weeks ago from what he says was one of the most pleasurable vacations he has ever taken.

Having "conquered" almost all vacation spots in this continent, he and his daughter, Donna Marie, chose Europe this year, or more rather the Scandinavian countries with Scotland and England thrown in for good measure.

"There are so many Americans flying to Europe this year," says Volz, "that I do not think there is any more news in our journey than a trip to Chicago." Thus the reporter did not find it easy to learn enough of Voltz's experiences to make a story.

George was continually talking "off the record." He refused to give personal opinions of persons, places visited, or to touch on politics except to say that all the Scandinavian countries appeared to be in excellent condition, economically.

THE TWO FROM Arlington Heights used the American Express tour method which allowed them to select their own itinerary yet enjoying all the services of a tour director. A representative of the American Express met them at every point, provided hotel and traveling reservations.

They found that Norway, which suffered very severely in World War II, is slowly but definitely coming back. They found the scenery in Norway everything that is told in guide books. "I believe that there is no country with greater natural beauty," says George, "especially the trip through the Grota canal and the many fjords." They spent three days in Stockholm.

Flying from Oslo to London they found that with the lifting of the food restrictions there was little food difficulty. Eggs were plentiful. "At least they were in the hotels and better restaurants," continued George.

WHEN MR. VOLZ inspected at the 1933 world's fair, the "Flying Scotchman," he never thought that 20 years later he would be riding on the same train when they went to Scotland to visit relatives.

Especially interesting was a visit to Stratford-on-Avon, birthplace of Shakespeare, where they witnessed a production of "Taming of the Shrew," in the memorial theatre.

All persons met appeared to be appreciative of what America did in the last war and the leadership it has taken since then—all except one man who though the United States should have gotten into the war earlier.

George informally gave many tidbits of his experience, but the reporter was aware that the person being interviewed was determined not to say anything that would warrant a scare heading.

Sorry folks, we could do no better.

Ants Picnicking On Your Trees? Check for Aphids

If ants are staging picnics on your trees, it's a good idea to check for the presence of aphids.

These small plant lice excrete a sweet, sticky fluid known as "honeydew" on which ants dote. While most ants don't harm your trees, aphids do.

Aphids suck juice from leaves and tender twigs, often causing leaves to fall prematurely in alarming numbers. Best way to eliminate ants, says D. F. Hayman, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., is to get rid of the aphids.

Too many home owners go after the ants first, pouring gasoline or kerosene about the base of an infested tree. Davey tree experts occasionally find trunk barks completely dead at ground level. Investigation often shows owners used tree-damaging chemicals to rout the ants. The Norway maple, a favorite hangout for aphids, is one of the major victims.

Only a few ant types, like the large black carpenter ant and the mound-building ant, are harmful to trees. Best control for them is ant bait, which can be bought at any garden supply house.

Nicotine spraying is a good aphid control. Since aphids reproduce faster than rabbits, it's advisable to spray over a wide area. Spraying only a few trees often won't do because aphids get around and may quickly reinfest from unsprayed trees nearby.

Their most likely hunting grounds are such trees as the apple, arborvitae, fir, beech, black cherry, spruce, boxelder, birch, hawthorn, hickory, linden, pine, poplar, red-cedar, tuliptree and cypress.

QUITE CONTRARY

BY MARY

The nation is mourning a great man in the person of Robert A. Taft and it is right that his memory is accorded every honor it is in our power to give. Friend and foe both considered him fine and very few men are truly missed by both sides of the political fence. He is missed and will be missed in the years to come.

It wasn't too long ago that our oldest small fry wanted to know the difference between a statesman and a politician. This caused the old wheels to practically spin in our brain as it was something we vaguely felt we knew, but had never tried to put into words. We ended up winded and not too sure that we had made ourselves clear.

The statesman part of it was all right because we can always fall back on Lincoln and his like who put their country first and their adherence to party politics last.

The politician definition was less clear because the name has come to have a slight odor about it lately. After much bandying of words back and forth we decided that a politician was all right, there have to be political parties, but not when the political job is picked for the man instead of the man for the job.

We don't like the feeling that plums are given to a man because he shouted loudest at a political rally, or knows a man who is very close to a man who is close to the White house. It doesn't seem enough qualification somehow.

We understand that Arlington Heights high school is going to go ahead with the plan of student exchange with southern schools. The idea sounds good to us, but we were a little concerned for the students who might be chosen when we learned that they will be called upon to give speeches to various groups.

We hope that those juniors and seniors who are lucky enough to go, are top-notch speakers.

It would be horrible to get stage fright so far away from home. However, we must admit that the student of today has far more poise and drive than we had back in the dim past. Our elders looked on us as rather young children, and we guess we certainly were.

These are certainly dog days and no self respecting dog should have any part of them. We are constantly amazed at the unending vitality of the youngsters around town and can't make up our mind if they have the right idea.

They ignore the heat and we sort of pant along with it lethargically. Our hardest job is to make the small ones rest in the afternoon.

Collapsing or getting sick is the silliest thing they ever heard of and aren't parents just the dumbest kind of beings to worry about it. Well, dumb or not, they rest.

Arlington seems to have shrunk into itself now that the track is closed. We no longer feel that we are on the outer drive when we go down Northwest highway and just the usual number of cars poke along on Euclid. We are once more a small suburban town and rather like it that way.

New Renewal Policy For GI Insurance To Save Thousands

Four million veterans with GI term insurance in force will no longer have to apply to the veterans administration for renewal of their policies for another five-year term before old policies expire.

Robert D. Beer, manager of the VA regional office, Chicago, said the veterans administration will perform this service for them automatically if their old policies are not lapsed at the expiration of the term period. This means the policy must be in force at the end of the term period with the final premium having been timely paid.

Beer said the new procedure went into effect July 23, when the President signed public law 148. It will save at least 600,000 dollars a year in administrative costs.

The new law covers only those term policies that expire on or after July 23, 1953. It cannot be applied retroactively to term policies which expired before that date.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

FROM PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

I had hoped, by planning our ten day visit in Indianapolis at this time, to avoid the Chicago heat, however, I'm certain that there is no hotter, more humid town in the middle west than this one is today! Fortunately, we are not far from "The Cottage," our cabin in the woods overlooking White River, and the nearby swimming pool and picnic grounds. Needless to say, we have spent a good deal of time at these two places.

On a sunny, cool morning, a few days ago Megan, Bridget and I started the trip to "Nana's." We made the journey in our usual five hours' driving time, including the stop for lunch. As we pulled up in front of Mother's house, Dottie and Debbie (Megan's and Bridget's cousins who are also visiting "Nana" for a few days) came hurrying to the car to meet us.

Dottie is just six months older than Megan, and Debbie is just six months younger, so you may well imagine they are perfect playmates.

Such excited talking and embracing! You'd have thought they were all dear old friends. Even Bridget entered into the gaity of the meeting—babbling delightedly.

* * *

THE FOLLOWING MORNING, while Mother and I started the canning of our dozen and a half pints of apple sauce, the girls played in the "sprinkler." It was not long before they all appeared at the back door—clothed in practically nothing (what the well-dressed little girl will wear when playing in the "sprinkler") and requested their "party dresses." The ensembles to which they referred were the pale blue net for Megan (my lovely, first recital dress), the flowered organdy creation for Dottie (created by Mother with merely an alteration of hem and neckline), and a garish red, white and blue apron for Debbie who was sure she had the prettiest dress of all.

The occasion for which the girls felt they should be "dressed up" was a tea party, in the back yard, around the same little red table at which I once sat with my neighborhood playmates.

Another day we packed our lunch baskets and swimming suits and went to the pool. You should have seen Bridget paddle her hands and feet in the water, while being held. Her sister and cousins had the most fun leaping from the edge of the pool into "Nana's" arms, and dipping their faces into the water to prove their aquatic ability.

LAST SUNDAY, Megan, Bridget, Mother and I drove to Spencer to see the girls' great grandmother. Megan loved investigating every room of the huge, white frame, Victorian house, which stands on Main Street as erectly today as it did when it was just built. I was delighted to find that it took only the promise of an ice cream cone to persuade Megan to sing all her songs and dance one number for Grandmother (Bridget also danced, as she now attempts to imitate everything Megan does).

Yesterday we took our suppers and went again to "The Cottage" of my childhood summers. Here the girls could run and shout as much as they cared to, for there are only the trees, grass and river to absorb the happy noise of children at play. I couldn't help thinking as I looked about the cabin, with all due respect to modernization for the easier life, it certainly changes the personality of a place to replace a wood-burning stove with a range, an old ice box with a refrigerator, and friendly-smelling coal oil lamps with electric lights. However, the same old landmarks outside and the familiar furnishings inside still make it one of my favorite places.

My love,
Patty.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Johnny was 5, and like all healthy, wide awake boys, got into his share of mischief every day.

"Johnny, why can't you be good?" his mother asked in desperation. "Sometimes you drive me to tears."

The next evening his mother tucked him into bed, listened to his prayers, and left the room. Later, she heard him sobbing.

"What are you crying about, Johnny?" she asked sympathetically.

"Mother, I've been good all day, and you never even noticed," Johnny replied. "What's the use of being good, when no one cares?"

STRUCK to the quick by Johnny's accusation, his mother quickly expressed her gratitude and praise. Johnny went happily to sleep.

How often we withhold the kind words of praise or gratitude which could make some one happy! Each of us needs and prizes recognition from others, yet all too few of us express our gratitude for kindnesses others have done for us, or praise them for the good things they have accomplished!

Some time ago, a woman sueing her husband for divorce listed his failure to express gratitude when she cooked special dishes in the manner he liked, or to praise her work around the house, as evidence of cruel and inhuman treatment. He never told her she looked nice, complemented her taste in clothing, or her qualities as a mother, No doubt this accusation weighed heavily with the judge when he granted the divorce!

IT IS SUCH a little thing to express gratitude and give praise where it is deserved. Household tasks become privileges for the woman whose husband commends her work; and the tired husband, home from a hard day's work, gets a big lift out of knowing that his wife is grateful to him for providing her and her children with a good home, good food and security.

Employers have found that kind words and recognition for tasks well performed increase production when an increase in wages and silence brings no results. When kindness, praise and gratitude sincerely expressed, mean so much and cost so little, why shouldn't we all be more generous with them?

Lessons In .... English

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. When the brief form of introduction is used, such as, "Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Smith," in what way can it be made apparent who is being introduced to whom?

A. The more important person's name should be accentuated so that it will be as clear as though the words, "May I present," were used.

Q. When eating a baked potato, is it correct to take the potato from the skin and mash it on the plate?

A. No; the proper way is to split the potato and then eat it directly from the skin.

Q. Whose place is it to set the date of the wedding, the bride or the bridegroom?

A. After the prospective bride and bridegroom have decided between themselves that circumstances are favorable for their wedding, it is up to the bride and her mother to decide the exact date.

Q. Is it proper for a married woman to send a gift in her name only to a bride-elect?

A. No; she should always include her husband's name.

Q. In a restaurant, when your napkin falls from your lap to the floor, do you pick it up and use it again?

A. No; the waiter should pick up the fallen napkin, and give you a fresh one.

Q. Is it considered all right to use the abbreviation "c/o" when writing to someone in care of someone else?

A. It is better to write the words out, "care of."

Q. Is it proper to ask a married man to serve as best man at a wedding?

A. Yes; but be sure to include his wife in any of the festivities that the bridal party may engage in.

Q. Is it correct to use a fork to place jelly on bread?

A. No; the knife should be used for this purpose.

Q. What should a man do if a woman makes a social call at his office, and keeps talking and taking up his time?

A. He may, at the first opportunity, rise and tell her he is glad she stopped in to see him—or, if this has no effect, he may tell her he has an urgent appointment.

Q. Is there any difference in the pronunciation of "fiancee" (femine) and "fiance" (masculine)?

A. No; both are pronounced as fee-ahn-say, with accent on last syllable.

Q. On which arm of her father should a bride proceed down the aisle of the church?

A. On his right arm.

Legion Convention In Chicago August 6-9

Rear admiral Daniel V. Gallery, noted World War II naval operations leader and author of many maritime articles, will be principal speaker at the 35th annual Illinois American Legion convention in Chicago, Thursday-Sunday Aug. 6-9.

About 50,000 Legionnaires and their ladies, including 2,500 delegates and alternate delegates from the 1,132 Legion posts in the state will attend the convention, sessions of which will be held in the civic opera house.

Directors of Jewel Tea Co. have approved general plans for the development of property on West North ave. in Melrose Park recently acquired by the company.

The proposed development includes a 50,000 square foot two-story executive office building of contemporary design, and a warehouse of approximately 500,000 square feet for supplementing Jewel's distribution service to Chicago area stores.

Surveys and site planning have been completed and construction will start this August with occupancy scheduled for late August or September of 1954. The executive office building will bring together most of the merchandising, operating and administrative functions for the home service routes, now headquartered in Barrington, and for the food stores department, now headquartered at 3617 S. Ashland ave., Chicago.

The over-all planned growth program for Jewel's Chicagoland food service, as announced in September, 1952, called for an objective of 200 stores by the end of 1955. This requires the addition of 40 new locations and the relocation or enlargement of approximately 25 others. Some 10 new stores are scheduled to open between now and January 1, 1954.

At Illinois In Chicago

Harold L. Jensen, 5 S. Albert, Mount Prospect, has been elected president of the Junior class at the University of Illinois college of medicine.

Jensen will hold office during the 1953-54 school year.

At Notre Dame

Among students from Mount Prospect graduated was Joseph Anthony Moriarty, who received a master of arts in education.

More than 175 Notre Dame students received graduate and undergraduate degrees at the summer exercises of the university's 108th annual commencement August 4.

Degrees were conferred by Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C.

Gems of Thought

ECONOMY

Nothing is cheap that is superfluous, for what one does not need, is dear at a penny.
—Plutarch

Spend not, where you may save; spare not, where you must spend.
—Proverb

Economy is a distributive virtue, and consists not in saving but in selection. Parsimony requires no providence, no sagacity, no powers of combination, no comparison, no judgment.
—Burke

All that is worth reckoning is what we do, and the best of everything is not too good, but is economy and riches.
—Mary Baker Eddy
